ROBERT BONNER

Bonner Orders Study Into Hunting Deaths

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has ordered his department to study recommendations made by coroners' juries probing hunting deaths in B.C. this year.

He said some way had to be found "to stop hunters from hurting each other."

Mr. Bonner declined comment on a recommendation made by an Alberni jury recently that all hunters who kill anybody should be charged.

The number of accidents so far is a matter of legitimate concern, he said.

CIVIL WAR DECLARED IN KOOTENAYS--JUDGE

'Little People' Forced Into Life of Terrorism

NELSON (CP)—A white-haired Son of Freedom Doukhobor, sentenced Monday to five years' prison for unlawful possession of explosives, says "top people" among his sect force the "little people" into acts of violence.

"The top people gather money and have a good time while the poor bomb and burn," said confessed terrorist Mike Bayoff, 51.

Bayoff said he was "a little kid" in a highly-organized crime gang which gave orders for outrages on wordless signals.

He said he turned his back on a lifetime of terrorism to confess his own role and implicate alleged associates because he could no longer live with himself if he continued to hide his and any other Freedomite's evil.

More than 40 suspected-terrorists have been arrested since Bayoff made his confession Nov. 2 and appealed to them to give themselves up. County Court Judge Eric Dawson, who sentenced him Monday, said he had given great assistance to police.

NELSON (CP)—Sons of Freedom Doukhobor terrorists have declared civil war on the peaceful Kootenay district of British Columbia, a county court judge said Monday.

Judge Eric Dawson made the remark in sentencing Mike Bayoff, 51, of Windermere, to five years in prison for unlawful possession of explosives.

He called the Freedomite terrorists potential killers.

Judge Dawson said in a 15-minute statement that Bayoff had expressed remorse for his actions and had proved his sincerity by his great assistance to police. But he said a sentence had to be imposed that would serve as a deterrent to those who were engaged in violence with him.

ATTITUDES CONTINUED

Referring to weekend fires in the nearby community of Glade, the judge said that on the eve of Bayoff's sentencing, terrorists had continued their diabolical attacks against human life.

After the judge left the courtroom some of the Freedomite spectators, most of them women, said: "If he is guilty, so are we."

Bayoff turned to them and said: "Go home, you pigs."

Before the judge began his statement, Bayoff said:

"From now on I'd like to see these people behind me in the gallery obey the law and live in peace. They have turned into pigs. Why don't they stay home and clean the snow away from their pig pens?"

VERY LONG TIME

Judge Dawson said Bayoff's conduct had been searched "and you show that you are sincere in your remorse—but your activities go back a very long time."

"I would be remiss if I passed sentence without considering the interests of this community," he said. It has been plagued for many years by acts of terrorism.

MANY CONFESS

"It has reached the point where a small group has declared war on this community of peaceful citizens."

"It is impossible for me to overlook the many, many years that this community has endeavored to live in peace. I said this error from the group associated with you, many of whom have confessed their crimes."

India Moving Forces Against Triple Threat

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Indian forces have been deployed for major manoeuvres near disputed border areas with Communist China, Pakistan and Portugal, authorities here disclosed Monday.

The sources said the manoeuvres involved large-scale combined exercises of the army, navy and air force.

The deployment came amid growing demands for firm action to settle the government's dispute with Portugal over the tiny enclave of Goa and with Communist China over its occupation of vast areas along India's northeast frontier.

The sources said the government has no plans for immediate military action against Portugal but "precautionary measures" were being taken.

Court Full of Smiths Accuses Sailor Smith

Sailor Jerry Smith, charged with theft of a car belonging to Edith Louise Smith, is no relation of the complainant, prosecutor Angus Smith told the court.

Sailor Smith, of HMCS New Glasgow,

was remanded to Friday for a probation report and sentence.

Const. Smith told the court the sailor took the stolen car from where it was parked on View Street Dec. 2, drove back to his ship, where he switched plates, then headed up-island.

Ticketed by RCMP in Duncan when he failed to produce a registration slip, he later surrendered to city police.

Communist Castro Dealt Double Blow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's avowed Communist regime was dealt a double blow yesterday.

President Kennedy extended the U.S. ban on Cuban sugar imports — a move that could cost Castro $80,000,000 — and the 21-nation Organization of American States took what could be the first step toward imposing sanctions on Cuba.

BIG CROP HIT

The president continued through next June 30 the sugar import ban that had been scheduled to expire Dec. 31. His order meant that Castro again would have to sell elsewhere the big Cuban crop, second largest in Cuba's history.

Several hours later, the OAS council approved 142 a Colombian proposal calling for a foreign ministers' conference on Jan. 10 to consider the Communist threat posed by Cuba against other nations of the western hemisphere.

Firemen and police sped to the 10-storey Toronto Dominion Bank Building, Douglas and Johnson, just before 1 a.m. today when a man threatened to jump to the street below.

Before they arrived, the man was persuaded to leave the window where he was standing. He accompanied detectives to the street.

Vessel Adrift In Gale

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP)—

The C. D. Secord, a Canadian coast carrier with 28 men aboard, drifted helplessly in high seas on Lake Superior Monday night.

The U.S. Coast Guard here said gale winds were blowing from the north-northwest and seas were high.

The coast guard cutter Woodrush was dispatched from Duluth, Minn., but was nearly 200 miles away. Houghton is much closer, "but we've got only a 40-footer here," a coast guard spokesman said.

"ROSSLAKE HARBOR, Ireland (AP)—A raging storm hurled nine sailors from a lifeboat into seas off western Ireland Monday night and washed three other men off a rescue ship.

Ships planes and small craft fanned out in search of the 12 missing men.

Canada Could Join Says Ottawa Official

OTTAWA—Finance Minister Fleming's contention

Canada could not join the European Common Market

even if she wanted to was contradicted yesterday by the chairman of the federal government appointed productivity council.

of Atlas Steels of Welland,

O., and chairman of the government's productivity council, established this year to stimulate production and employment, told the Economic Club of Detroit Canada "could of join it."

course" join the European Economic Community.

Mr. De Young's subject was "Why Does Canada Trade With Cuba, Red China and Russia?"

He agreed with the claims by the Conservative government at Ottawa that if Britain joined the Common Market it would not "enhance" Canada's chances for increased trade with the United Kingdom.

"How about the Common Market?" he asked. "Canada could join of course, but would have to be extremely productive to put manufactured goods into that market. This type of competition is not too keenly relished by the Common Market countries unless one of Detroit Canada "could of join it."

O'Brien Divorcing Wife Attacks 'Gutter Press'

NEW YORK (AP)—Ireland's

Conor Cruise O'Brien disclosed Monday he is divorcing his wife

after 22 years of marriage so

O'Brien, 44, former chief UN diplomat in Katanga province, resigned over the weekend from Ireland's foreign service charging Britain and France with aiding UN efforts to pacify and unify the Congo.

He told reporters that the British "gutter press" cited his relationship with Miss Maire MacEntee, 38, who was in Katanga with him, as part of a campaign against him "to deflect attention from the Katanga situation."

O'Brien said he and his wife, both Roman Catholics, were married in a civil ceremony. He said their separation "is entirely amicable."

Fund 'Part of Christmas'

With Christmas less than three weeks away, Colonist stenographers are already preparing the cheques which will comprise this year's 500 Fund gift.

So far, of course, the cheques remain blank.

The final, all important figure, that is entered on them, depends upon what you give between now and Christmas.

While the fund is nudging the $3,000 mark, Victorians are reminded that the final total must be sliced into 500 equal slices for distribution to the city's needy.

Speaking to a group of 250 soldiers and survival course trainees yesterday who had donated more than $105 to the fund, Colonist editor-in-chief R. J. Bower explained the purpose and spirit which motivates the 500 Fund.

"Over the years that the Colonist 500 Fund has grown to become part of Christmas in Victoria," Mr. Bower said, "it has come to be known as a gift rather than charity."

He added: "The money is freely given, with no strings attached, to people who live face to face with poverty throughout the year. We expect them to use it to bring a little of the spirit of the Christmas season into homes where every penny must be watched."

Donations may be mailed or brought to The Daily Colonist, 2631 Douglas—or they may be dropped off at Acousticon of Victoria, 740 Yates, between 9 and 5 weekdays or from 9 to 5 Saturday.

Since lists of donations are published periodically, those who give should specify whether or not they wish to remain anonymous.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Fleish

A few months ago I wrote about a book, "Reconsiderations," in which England's most famous historical prophet, Prof. Arnold J. Toynbee, publicly recanted his views and pretty much took back everything he'd said about our civilization being on the verge of falling apart.

Now we have the same kind of thing happening in the U.S. David Riesman, a leading social prophet, has joined Prof. Toynbee in the public breast-beating and "reconsidering" gambit. He also tells us he's sorry about his past mistakes, and made him North American things have worked out rather differently from what he expected, and the future is by far just as grim as he'd thought it would be.

Twelve years ago he wrote "The Lonely Crowd," a book that became immensely famous and made him North America's best-known intellectual. His distinction between "inner-directed" and "other-directed" people became a sort of parlor game, with everybody trying to be classed as an "inner-directed" and looking down on everybody else as an "other-directed" conformist. As Riesman saw it, the U.S. was going down in a morass of "other-direction," with millions of organization men and their dull wives stagnating in their mass-produced suburban homes.

Now Riesman has changed his mind. In a new book "Culture and Social Character" (Free Press), he has exposed himself to a stinging critique by his fellow intellectuals, following up with his own "post-critical reconsideration" in which he pleads guilty to having been wrong in the first place.

Look Down on All

The critics—in their polite, academic way—don't spare Riesman a bit. They accuse him of being a "master of ambiguity," they call his distinction between "inner-direction" and "other direction" "very thin."

Humble Agreement

They say about his pessimistic conclusions that "the other side of the picture deserves serious attention," they "differ strongly" with his main ideas and they come out flatly with the statement that "his thesis may be incorrect."

Riesman humbly agrees. After all, he says, "The Lonely Crowd" was written 12 years ago. Much now strikes me as amusing. . . . Some elements are pretty clearly wrong. . . . One basic idea was extremely shaky—his assumption that the U.S. population was bound to decline; instead it went way up.

As for "inner-direction" and "other-direction," these two character types might need to be scrapped.

In short, the chief prophet of doom has come around. Instead of despairing about the coming antheap of faceless organization men, he now sees the hope of the world in solidarity.

Cooking Doesn't Kill Meat's Food Value

By JOSEPH MOJNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Mojnér: A friend of mine claims there is no food value in meat if it is well done, especially hamburger. If it isn't rare inside, she says, there is no point in eating it. Mrs. A. S.

Where do these notions come from? Meat is highly nutritious and a most reliable source of complete protein. It also gives us minerals and vitamin B. The amount of fat governs, to a large degree, its calories.

Cooking doesn't destroy its most useful contents although it may melt off some of the fat. Cooking is primarily a matter of taste, although most meat should be reasonably well-cooked to destroy tapeworm (if present) and trichina (in pork) and possibly some game animals.

Dear Dr. Mojnér: What is the most effective way of determining the day of ovulation? Is it possible to go six years without hitting the right day to conceive? Are there any physical signs I should look for, around that time?—Mrs. C. F.

Ovulation, the time at which the egg can be fertilized, is around mid-cycle, generally from the 12th to 16th day following the beginning of the last period in women having a 28 or 30-day cycle. Sometimes women experience a sharp pain associated with rupture of the follicle which releases the ovum, or egg. Other than that, an accepted method of determining the exact time is to take rectal temperature each morning. There is a rise of about one degree at the time of ovulation. But you must beware of being misled.

It's also a pretty good idea to have the husband, as well as the wife, checked for some flaw, perhaps minor and easily corrected, that is preventing pregnancy.

Dear Dr. Mojnér: What can a person do about constipation when it is necessary to be on a low residue or bland diet?—M. L.

The first thing is regular and ample water. In fact, that's all that ails some people. Laxative juices—prune juice for one—help.

Bulk may be increased with out harmful irritation by bland preparations containing psyllium or agar. And half a dozen or more preparations containing dicycl sodium sulfoneminate (a moistening and softening agent) are available.

Use of vitamin B complex or brewer's yeast may help and glycerin suppositories promote regularity. Remember, the habit of regular bowel action is one of the most helpful of all.

Runway Work Delayed Again

Long-awaited Patricia Bay Airport runway extension project has been stalled again, this time by wet weather.

A spokesman for Dawson Wade and Co. Ltd. said yesterday the project will be started "early in the new year." He declined to say whether this meant work would start in January.

The Vancouver firm received its official contract from Ottawa yesterday, he said. Dawson Wade was lowest of seven bidders on its $201,810 contract. Larger types of aircraft will be able to land at the airport when the extension is completed. Civic leaders fought a long battle to get the job started in the first place. Spokesman for the contracting firm said the Patricia Bay Highway will have to be relocated before the company starts its work on the runway extension.

Meanwhile, McPhail Construction Ltd. was reported slowed down by wet weather

Knew No Better Says Terrorist

Continued from Page 1 Bayoff said the hoodlums who have plagued the Kootenay district of southeast British Columbia with bombings and arson must be "whipped or wiped out" if peace is ever to come to the area.

LEGACY LEFT His parents and the people of the Freedomite shantytown of Krestova gave him the legacy of bombing, burning, and nude parading, he said.

He knew nothing much else in life and passed on the same legacy to his daughter Patsy, now 24 and the mother of four.

Patsy has broken away from the sect and now lives in Creston, 40 miles south-east of here.

"EVERYONE INVOLVED" "Everyone around is involved in bombings, burnings and nude parading so it seems natural," Bayoff said.

"My father almost died in the penitentiary—bad heart. He was in jail three times. My mother was in jail. I was in three times."

"I wasn't trained that this was wrong. When I didn't understand I thought it was right. It was just something people at Krestova did and still do."

"TED OFF TRACK" "Some who know the way and have a larger understanding of things lead smaller people off the track. They led me. I was just a kid compared to them in this terror business."

Bayoff's daughter spoke of seeing her home burned by Freedomites four times but it didn't bother her—even when her "doll burned to death"—because it was also happening to other Freedomite children.

Neither did the nude parading—"the parents of other kids were doing it"—or the fact that her parents were sent to jail—"all the other kids' parents were in jail, so it seemed okay."

Request from the group stated that "in view of the interest we have stimulated in the forthcoming election and municipal affairs generally, it would be appreciated if council could waive the fee."

Councillors John Watts and Allan Cox quickly pointed out association officials had tried to prevent non-members from asking questions of the candidates and the group held a business session in the hall after the campaign meeting ended.

Coun. Watts said he would support waiving the normal charge only "if the group holds completely open meetings in the future."

CAROLLERS BACKED Council adhered to present policy and will charge the group $10.

Council granted the Seventh-Day Adventist Church permission to solicit while canvassing in the municipality during the Christmas season and granted Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League permission to hold a tag day there April 28, 1962.

The U.S. portion of the Virgin Islands east of Puerto Rico were purchased from Denmark in 1917 for $25,000,000.

Britain Accused of Congo Sabotage

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—Dr. Conor Cruise O'Brien yesterday charged British "gutter millionaires" with attempting to sabotage the UN Congo operation.

The controversial diplomat, who resigned last week from both his UN post and his position as an assistant in the Irish foreign office, said the British government was going its utmost to "bring the United Nations operation to nothing."

The goal, O'Brien said, is to gain time for Katangese President Moïse Tshombe so that he can establish a separate state.

O'Brien said the British press, led by publishing magnate Lord Beaverbrook, has conducted a hate campaign against him because his actions in Katanga thwarted the interests of British capitalists.

In a news conference, he also blamed Prime Minister

Macmillan, Lord Salisbury, copper king Charles Waterhouse and Lord Lansdowne for helping thwart the UN Congo operation.

O'Brien also listed Sir Roy Welensky, the Rhodesian prime minister, among those working to "sabotage" the UN Congo operation.

Simultaneously, Irish Minister of External Affairs Frank Aiken issued a statement here to dispel speculation that O'Brien was forced to resign from the Irish foreign service.

He said that O'Brien submitted his resignation on his own initiative.

Aiken added that attacks against the 44-year-old Irish career diplomat had been "unfair and unjust."

However, the foreign minister disassociated himself and his government from statements O'Brien issued following his resignation.

O'Brien Criminal—Tshombe

PARIS (Reuters)—President Moïse Tshombe of the Congo's Katanga province Monday called Conor Cruise O'Brien, former United Nations chief in the breakaway province, a "criminal" who should be prosecuted for his Congo policies.

"I rejoice that he has quit," Tshombe said. He accused O'Brien of using Katanga tribesmen to create "disorder."

Katanga To Lift Barricade

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—Katanga province bowed to a threat of United Nations force Monday night and agreed to reopen the main road to the Elisabethville airport that was barricaded during the day by Katangan troops and police.

Tension between UN and Katanga forces built up to a flashpoint before Foreign Minister Evariste Kimba of Katanga announced agreement on reopening the airport artery.

Kimba professed surprise at the new barricade construction. But just a few hours earlier he had threatened to shoot down all UN planes flying over this secessionist province.

The agreement came within an hour of a UN ultimatum threatening military action unless the Katanga forces removed roadblocks.

People Invited To Smash Stores

SANTO DOMINGO (AP)—Terrorists encouraged by the army smashed shops and clubbed civilians Monday in a strongarm attempt to end the crippling seven-day strike aimed at ousting the Dominican government.

Angry anti-government crowds fought back with rocks and alingshots.

The new violence flared after the armed forces withdrew all troops from riot duty in the capital and openly invited people to smash in to shattered stores.

The appeal went largely unheeded except for a band of some 20 men.

In its first formal session in five weeks, the conference concluded an East-West agreement that also covered the functions and powers of the three-nation International Control Commission, which will supervise a neutrality treaty.

Canada, India and Poland make up the control commission.

Despite the difficult problems that remain, U.S. delegate William Sullivan said the agreement set a pattern for peaceful settlement of East-West differences.

'Two Stevensons'

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Ceylon accused the U.S. Monday of waging a war "against the Chinese people" by opposing admission of Communist China to the UN.

In a speech to the General Assembly, Ambassador G. P. Malasekera declared the U.S. is building up a "wall of hatred" between the American and Chinese peoples that could lead to a third world war.

The Ceylonese delegate made this comment on Adlai Stevenson's speech last Friday urging that the UN keep the door closed to China.

"Here are apparently not only two Chinas in American thinking, but also two Stevensons. There is the Stevenson

A Timely Warning

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS Minister Howard Green, a man who has gained for Canada an enviable stature in international affairs, has sounded a timely warning of the political implications of Britain's entry into the European Common Market.

This was an aspect, he said, that had been given little thought, but it was a far more serious one than generally realized.

"What happens," he asked, "if Britain joins the Common Market and adopts a common foreign policy? How does that tie in with its position as head of the Commonwealth?"

Though Mr. Green's questions must remain for the moment unanswered, it is not difficult to envisage with him that such a course would sever yet another of the tenuous bonds which link Britain with the Commonwealth.

His warning, in fact, comes not a moment too soon.

Even now arrangements have been made for a meeting in Rome early in the new year between the prime ministers of the six ECM nations for the purpose of signing a statute giving their governments a common political basis.

It is interesting to note that of the six members, only one—The Netherlands—has tried to call a halt to the almost indecent haste displayed toward this end, by urging that final agreement be postponed until Britain has joined the community and is able to add her voice to the deliberations.

However, there is little hope that the remaining five will agree to any further delay, particularly as the request comes from one of its junior members. The fact is that the foreign ministers of France, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg have been negotiating the future policy for months and are now said to have reached a compromise solution satisfactory to all present participants.

Basically all have accepted that the six nations—and Britain if she joins—will function under three organs: the European Parliament, the Council of Ministers and the ECM Commission. The first two bodies will co-ordinate the political, cultural and defence policies of its members, while their economic policies will continue to fall under the dictates of the ECM Commission in Paris.

The truth that Mr. Green has now so heavily underlined is that even if Britain were to succeed in gaining the special trade concessions she desires under the ECM Commission, it would mark the first step toward her political integration with the European powers.

This being so, Britain may well find—through the growing aggressiveness of Germany in the field of international diplomacy, and France's continuing stubbornness in setting up a national nuclear strike force independent of NATO—that she is saddled with a foreign policy far removed from her own interests.

Once Britain ties her economic and political fortunes to Europe she will no longer be mistress of her own affairs. Indeed, in all likelihood she will be outvoted, outmanoeuvred, and outguessed.

Ideas Needed

SUGGESTIONS regarding the design of a special stamp to commemorate Victoria's centenary next year should abound now that the postmaster-general has promised that such a stamp will be issued.

Already there have been several: that the stamp show the barque William Morrison tying up in the harbor with the fort in the background; that it show the steamer Beaver; that it depict the Parliament Buildings and part of the Empress Hotel; that it carry the message, "Follow the Birds to Victoria" and portray a seagull, and perhaps a cluster-lamp standard.

None of these ideas is without merit in some respect. But none seems to be exactly what is needed.

The centenary to be marked in 1962 will not be the centenary of Victoria as a settlement nor as a capital. It will be the 100th birthday of Victoria as an incorporated city.

So to be most fitting, a stamp to mark the occasion should depict the beginning or the completion of 100 years of local government. That's a tall order, perhaps; a picture of the first mayor would be appropriate, but might not catch attention or stir imagination; a picture of the city hall Victoria boasts after 100 years would not impress upon the world the city's progressive spirit.

Further suggestions, therefore, should be welcomed by civic and centennial authorities. But they should be forthcoming quickly; whatever is proposed, debate must ensue, and it is important that Ottawa know what Victoria wants before too much of the centennial year has flown by.

The Annual Classic

CANADA is one nation but when the climactic of the football season arrives, the Grey Cup Game, it splits into two. Then it becomes East and West, with each half solid in its loyalty.

It does not matter which city club carries the Western colors—Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Regina or Vancouver, although the latter never has yet—supporting enthusiasm reigns supreme. The support in large part may be vicarious but it is there, and it rallies round the West.

Thus on Saturday last Victorians as well as other Westerners were swept into the orbit of the Grey Cup, with local hopes pinned on the Western standard-bearers, the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Television helps to swell this interest, of course, since it brings the game into the home of all and sundry, and thereby focuses attention on the annual sporting classic.

Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of Victorians sat glued to the small screen who wouldn't know the difference between a touchdown and a forward pass, and puzzled over all those white yardage lines.

They were rewarded by the Bombers, who satisfied Western pride by winning a fine victory in a game made all the more exciting because it went into overtime play. Nothing whets the appetite like a tight finish to a sports encounter. All honor therefore to Winnipeg, which upheld the Western tradition even if that city is so far from Victoria it seems almost Eastern.

Victoria will never play off for the Grey Cup, but some day perhaps Vancouver will; then it will be a West versus East with a vengeance.

"Keeping you and me back for another six months will scare the daylight out of the Russians."

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and chips, and scaling wax. . .
By TOM TAYLOR

Do you suppose society is over-organized? Putting it on the personal level, for instance, do you belong to too many clubs, societies or organizations?

And if so do you sometimes feel you'd like to stay home of an evening but alas, you have to go out. To a meeting.

Meetings, meetings, meetings. Never in the realm of human activity, to reorient a great man's phraseology, did so many people attend so many meetings.

Are you aware for instance that the public library has a list of some 900 organizations of one kind or another in the Greater Victoria area. Or so I believe. The figure might be even larger.

Naturally some societies are of the small and privileged kind, and maybe pretty esoteric too. That's their own business, for private clubs have the right to choose their own members. But some societies are pretty large, with big memberships, and the overall total of groupings is enough to take in most of the adults in the community.

I don't suppose it does, for some people are members of half-a-dozen different clubs. One chap I know, a regular joiner, told me a few years ago that he belonged to nearly 40 organizations.

That fair, took my breath away and made me feel I wasn't doing my bit, for I belonged to only four societies. Now my count is three but somehow that seems plenty.

One gets involved in other meetings apart from those of one's own special coterie, you know.

But I do not belittle the joiners. They do worthy work and without them the community would lose much of its sparkle. And for that matter most clubs give their members pleasure.

If they didn't the presumption is they wouldn't be members.

Macaulay the historian, refusing an invitation to help form a literary society, said that the least authors said of one another the better.

I wouldn't know about authors but assuredly modern life is gregarious, else there wouldn't be nearly 1,000 organizations in Greater Victoria, all composed of people having a common kinship either of person or aim.

Still and all the meetings do press on one, both of your own and other groups.

Actually, and especially at this time of the year, we could do with weeks twice as long as they are, provided of course this didn't cut down our allotment of years.

Meetings, conferences, engagements of all kinds, they're all of a piece. One hears tell perhaps of one woman telephoning another to see if she'd go with her to a certain feminine gathering. Alas, her neighbor is so swamped with meetings and social calls it takes her ten minutes to rectify her engagement book, for that day.

I feel sorry for women; they're really up against it in this connection.

Not everyone who belongs to a club or organization is a true blue member. Some like myself are sort of fair-weather folk, turning up at meetings only when they feel like it. If it were left to them half the Greater Victoria clubs would fade away.

Still, maybe the town is over-organized; there must be considerable overlapping of activity, interest and zeal. There's no question anyway that many people are enslaved by meetings.

Private time is such a precious thing, often it's a case of "oh dear I've another meeting to go to!"

Report From Ottawa

Enough to Cause Political Shivers

By ARTHUR DIANEKLY

carlsruhe. And for the moment, the West German political parties profess to be unconcerned about the legal possibilities, while manifesting a certain amount of irritation about the unfairness of it all.

Dr. Freise, on the other hand, makes it all sound so simple. When politicians give undertakings, he says, they do so in the hope and expectation that the voters will take them seriously. That being the case, the politicians enter into a kind of contract with the voters when they make a promise. And they break that contract whenever they break the promise.

There seems to be a fairly general assumption that Dr. Freise's suit, while an interesting novelty, is unlikely to be successful however high the court to which it may be carried. What worries the West German politicians, however, is the one in a hundred, one in a thousand, or one in a million chance that the Supreme Court, or perhaps the Constitutional Court, might throw German custom and tradition to the four winds and rule in Dr. Freise's favor.

What then?

"If Dr. Freise's suit were to make the grade in West Germany, it is altogether likely that similar suits might be launched experimentally elsewhere.

Here in Canada, at least, campaign promises seem to be of two kinds. A party leader may promise to do certain things. Then, too, he may promise not to do other things.

The ordinary, straightforward campaign promise would appear to have few risks attached, whatever the outcome of that West German suit. Consider, for example, the case of the party leader who promises, let's say, to give $1,000 in cash to every man, woman and child in Canada if his party is elected to office. Should his party wind up among the also-rans, he's off.

At last report, Dr. Freise was trying to place the case before the Supreme Court at

In New Zealand

Sky Farming

By E. G. WEBSTER, from Wellington

SPECTACULAR progress has been reported in a vital area of New Zealand's development—the reclamation and utilization of millions of acres of the country's high, barren and often eroded hill country.

Nearly 80 per cent of the country's marginal land is unproductive country of this type. In the earlier years of colonization, much of it was burned off and grazed without regeneration to such an extent that it has become wholly or almost barren and a constant erosion problem.

The solution to this came with the development of aerial farming in the post-war years. New Zealand pilots, many with wartime experience, proved adept at this pioneering work. High country farmers, once its possibilities had been demonstrated, gave them every encouragement.

Aircraft have also been used to exterminate rabbits, deer and goats by spreading poison and to eradicate extensive areas of broom and gorse by spraying. In many high country districts aircraft are also used to drop fencing materials and to keep the fencing gangs supplied.

Largely as a result of these activities, New Zealand's sheep population has increased by more than 16 million since 1948 and the cattle population by over one million. In the same period land values have increased by more than $165 million, largely because of the increased carrying capacity of the high country.

These are the measurable results, but even more important has been the protection that new pastures have brought to eroded watersheds.

Now that Finland has gained a reprieve, with a delay at least in the Soviet demand for military consultation, it would be useful to examine the question of northern neutrality and Soviet motives. The tendency is always to assume that Moscow acts out of a bold, calculated plan. Yet those with a long knowledge of Soviet conduct and Russian behavior before Lenin and Marx believe that genuine fear of German intentions in the north may be part of the motivation.

The recent rattling of Premier Khrushchev and Marshal Malinovsky, his

Washington Calling

A Defensive Reaction?

By MARQUEE CHILDS

Nearly a year ago the Soviet Union sent up the first alarm signals that finally culminated in the latest threat to the independence of Finland. As so often in the past, it was hard to tell what the immediate motivation was.

The alarm began with reports privately circulated by Soviet diplomats to the effect that the United States proposed to establish a fleet in the Baltic. The intimation was that Polaris submarines would be a part of this fleet and Russia was plainly menaced.

Then as various moves were initiated to strengthen the northern flank of NATO with the development of a Danish German joint command and the purchase by Norway of 14 submarines in Germany to re-habilitate the Norwegian fleet, the rumblings out of Moscow grew louder. The climax came with an abrupt demand on President Urho K. Kekkonen to come for talks that seemed likely to end in a demand for bases on Finnish soil and military collaboration putting Finland in the role of a satellite.

At the same time, reports have been printed that Sweden is considering abandoning the policy of neutrality and joining NATO. There seems to be no truth whatsoever in these reports. All political parties are said to agree on the need to continue the present policy.

For it is clearly recognized that such a change would mean an immediate move by Moscow to establish bases in Finland. This would in turn very likely mean the end of Finnish independence, and another area of growing tension and friction would be created.

The question of the neutrality of both Sweden and Finland must be considered in relation to the pressures of the developing European Common Market and whether joining up is to become the price of economic survival.

Sweden's neighbors have resented her good fortune in escaping the Second World War and the high prosperity prevailing in the postwar years. Despite great pressure applied in 1949 Sweden chose to stay out of NATO and the Swedes took no American aid other than a loan currently being repaid. In the aftermath of the war this northern neutral that had been spared the suffering of the other Scandinavian countries put out $800,000,000 in one form of economic assistance or another.

With the growing power and cohesion of the Common Market, it is being said by some that the neutrals—Sweden, Austria and Switzerland—should not be permitted mere association. They must be made to join up as full members politically and economically. With time that may come. But great harm can be done if it is forced.

Hard to Read

By GREGORY CLARK

THE stewards on the air-craft brought us an armful of magazines, the weekly illustrated slicks from the United States, and I traded two or three with my seat mate after a brief skiff through them.

"They're awfully hard to read, aren't they?" I mentioned. "You can hardly tell the articles from the ads, the way they are all splashed up with type and spectacular illustrations."

"It's the new trend," said my seat mate, a business executive. "The advertising profession is naturally pretty swelled up with pride the way they have stepped in and taken over the TV and radio. They have proved they can make the public swallow anything. Now they figure they can move in on publishing."

So they have issued an ultimatum. They will jettison their editorial content, make it look less separate and distinct from the advertising, they will drop out.

"Surely not!" I protested. "You can see for yourself." replied my seat mate. "The advertisers don't want the editorial content to contrast in any way to the detriment of the ads. Inconclusive

A brief account has appeared recently of an experiment in which, for a one-month period, three scientists ate food contaminated with radioactive strontium. They suffered no apparent ill-effects and it was concluded from this that no one need fear the radioactive fallout expected next spring.

It is well that the public does not become over-concerned with radiation and fallout; that is, concerned more than facts justify. The following points, however, are pertinent to this news item:

1. The amounts of radioactive strontium actually ingested by the experimenters were not mentioned.
2. The bones of growing children take up strontium in far greater amounts than do the bones of adult men.
3. Strontium 90, one of the radio-isotopes used, has a half-life of 28 years and once deposited in bones continues to give off radiation for many years.
4. It is well known that some of the biological effects of radiation such as leukemia and other cancers are delayed—they do not appear until some time (months or years) after exposure. (Points 3 and 4 indicate that the experiment isn't complete yet.)
5. No mention is made of the fact that the hereditary mechanisms of man and animals are relatively very sensitive to radiation damage.

Insidious

I would like to add my voice to the growing protest against the school board decision to start war survival drills in our schools. This is one of the most insidious moves in the propaganda campaign to convince people that "you too can survive a nuclear war."

We do not require the opinion of civil defence experts to tell us how the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki were incinerated. We must expect that in a nuclear conflict most of our children would suffer the same fate.

The dangerous effect of this survival propaganda is that it misleads people into believing that most of us can survive a nuclear war, thus preventing them from contributing effectively towards policies of disarmament and peace.

We may grant that civil defence may save a few lives; however, its main role is to stifle opposition to war and to prepare us to accept it as inevitable. It is most unfortunate that our school board is bringing this propaganda to the children.

In Agreement

In your report on the last meeting of the Oak Bay council, there was an unfortunate error in that certain remarks critical of the platform of Coun. Gordon Edworthy, a candidate for the re-election, were incorrectly ascribed to me whereas in reality they were made by someone else.

As this appears to have concerned many of our electors I feel I should make it quite clear that I have the highest regard for Coun. Edworthy who has given outstanding service to the municipality as a councillor and as chairman of the parks committee and that I have no wish to detract in any way from his platform which agrees quite closely with my own views of those things which are required in the near future.

(Coun.) JOHN D. WATTS.

Renewable

Mr. Fulton, as the writer understands, says we can sell B.C. apples or B.C. lumber across the line, or oil or gas which does not renew itself. But we cannot sell power from river water which, after every rain, does renew itself.

Perhaps he thinks it is better to let rivers like the Peace run to waste.

A few B.C. dams on the Columbia will smooth out the floods on that stream. Wasted water will be saved for the American power stations down stream. Half the extra power so created is set aside for B.C. Since this will be surplus to our needs, it would seem wise to sell it and use the money for dams on the Peace and Columbia. Building dams on the Peace and Columbia will create a vast quantity of power and industry. At once we will get much employment and prosperity from dam construction.

These immense and inspiring B.C. projects must be given their freedom by Mr. Fulton.

Vast prosperity for this province is in the balance. A. DOBBA.

Ex-Real Estate Man

City Businessman Remanded
No Plea Made in Theft Case

Former city real estate man Milton H. King was remanded to Dec. 11 without plea when he appeared in police court yesterday charged with theft by failing to account for a portion of $3,000 entrusted to him by a construction company.

Brought back from Vancouver Saturday, King is at liberty on $1,500 bail.

Defence counsel David Hummel asked for the remand in order to obtain particulars of the charge.

Complaint against King was signed Nov. 16 by Dr. J. G. Patterson, 3000 Lansdowne. It is alleged King received $3,000 from Patterson-Hunt/Building in order to make certain payments for that company.

Handicapped Children
Under One Roof Soon

EDMONTON (CP)—A project to provide for the physical and educational welfare of "multiple handicapped" Alberta children under one roof is to begin here in 1962, Premier Manning said yesterday.

He told a press conference the project is unique in Canada because it will provide for both the educational and

Former Cuba Envoy

To Speak Here

Allan Cunningham Anderson, government expert on Latin America who served as Canadian ambassador to Cuba and Haiti from 1959 to 1961, will address a meeting of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Institute of International Affairs at 8 p.m. Thursday at 1330 Dallas Road.

Union Pacts Inherited
In Black Ball Deal?

A spokesman for the Seafarers' International Union said yesterday that when the government purchased Black Ball Ferries it also inherited existing labor contracts.

Union secretary Rod Heinekey said it was assumed that since the Labor Relations Board had approved the SIU as bargaining agent for 147 Black Ball employees, the government would honor the agreement.

NOT IN FORCE

He said it would be "premature" to issue an official statement at this time commenting on Premier Bennett's statement that no union agreements now are in force between the company and its men.

The premier also said there would be no wage cuts for Black Ball employees.

Mr. Heinekey said that under the SIU contract with Black Ball, the basic seaman's wage is $319 a month.

SOME CASES

He added that in some cases this is $34 a month higher than is paid for the same work on the B.C. government Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen ferries.

He said there are between 40 and 50 SIU members working on the Mv. Sidney and Mv. Tsawwassen, but the union isn't certified to act on their behalf.

Most important of all benefits enjoyed by SIU members under the Black Ball contract was a welfare plan which has no equivalent in the government service, said Mr. Heinekey.

LACK OF COURTESY

The union spokesman hit out at "lack of common courtesy" on the part of both government and former owners, neither of whom had communicated officially with the SIU membership since the sale was confirmed last week.

Mr. Heinekey said the union was awaiting a reply from the government to its letter seeking clarification of the current situation.

Re-Admission

VANCOUVER (CP)—The

executive secretary of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association yesterday expressed alarm over the high re-admission rate of victims of the disease in Canada.

Dr. G. J. Wherrett of Ottawa, said of 9,754 persons admitted to hospitals and sanatoria in 1960, 3,063 were re-admitted for a second and third time.

44 Instead of 12

Kamloops City Jail

Bursts in Seams

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Kamloops city jail was jammed with prisoners during the weekend with as many as 44 persons at one time crowded into quarters designed to accommodate 12.

R.C.M.P. Superintendent J. B. Harris said the arrest of a total of 35 persons between

BETTER FACILITIES

But he said it is impossible for police to "cope with the situation" unless better facilities are provided.

"Even our own men are disgusted with the way they have to look after prisoners," he said.

"Washroom facilities are totally inadequate. Prisoners have to sit on the floor and balance plates on their knees when eating meals."

MANY TRANSIENTS

Supt. Harris said Kamloops is subject to an unusually large number of transients and undesirable because of "flophouse" conditions in the city.

"These places are breeding houses of crime," he said.

"A thorough investigation by authorities could result in most of them being packed up."

SLEEP ON FLOOR

Many of the prisoners, most of whom were arrested on intoxication and vagrancy charges, had to sleep on the floor until they made their appearance in court.

The police started two days after city council received four letters complaining about deplorable conditions in the business area where undesirable were creating scenes and causing fights.

Mental Health Unit
Needs Men's Gifts

Members of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association, busily wrapping donated Christmas presents for mental hospital patients, have noticed a shortage of gifts for men.

Mrs. Betty Wadsworth, chairman of the group's Christmas gift committee, last night made a plea for more new gifts for men, including such items as socks, ties, pipes, tobacco, chocolates, candy and games.

Donations should be left at either of the Spencer's Stores or Jameson Motors where they will be picked up by the CMHA.

"MY BANK" TO 3 MILLION CANADIANS

3 millionth customer?

A housewife in Hamilton... a youngster in Yarmouth... a farmer in Fruitvale?

Frankly, we'd just be guessing. This year our total customers soared above the three-million mark. But which new customer in our network of 875 branches was the one between 2,999,999 and 3,000,001, we have no way of knowing.

But we do know our 3-millionth customer will probably use the B of M in many ways... to save for the things he wants, to finance his automobile at low cost, to pay his household bills and to keep his valuables safe.

If he is a businessman, he might use Canada's first bank to finance his day-to-day operations, to pay his employees, to collect and remit money the world over... if he is a farmer, "MY BANK" might be called upon to finance new trucks, modern barns and labour-saving electrical equipment.

He's very important to us, that 3-millionth customer. Never before in our long history have we been privileged to serve so many. We number with a good deal of pride those three million expressions of trust from people who call the Bank of Montreal "MY BANK".

'Noble' Tale Unfolds

$8,500 Went to B.C. 'Titled Gambler'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A real estate dealer said Monday a "nobleman" obtained $8,500 from him on the pretext of giving him a $30,000-a-year job.

Wesley Roland of North Vancouver was testifying at the preliminary hearing of a charge of fraud against Fleming Joseph William Durham, 41, of Vancouver.

Durham was committed for trial by judge without jury. Bail was continued at $5,000.

Roland, giving evidence before Magistrate Oscar Orr, said Durham claimed to be:

- Mario Greco, son of an Italian count;
- Director of a Los Angeles investment firm with assets of $250,000,000;
- Owner of the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas until he sold it recently for $11,000,000;
- Owner of a large Vancouver motel;
- Owner of two U.S. trucking firms and through this a member of the Teamsters' executive committee;
- The gambling kingpin of Vancouver until he was exposed by a reporter in 1955.

Strait-Jacket Threat Seen in Act Change

Frank Scott, dean of law at McGill University, said yesterday the federal government's formula for amending the British North America Act "seems designed to put the country into a strait-jacket."

Prof. Scott said the plan disclosed Friday by Justice Minister Fulton, which would require unanimous provincial consent for certain basic constitutional changes, could deny future governments "the flexibility which is so necessary in this rapidly changing world."

KEY PROVISION

This requirement calling for unanimous consent is the key provision in the formula designed to "repatriate" the Constitution. At present, the power to amend the British North America Act rests with the British Parliament.

Prof. Scott said the formula seems to have been based on political, rather than legal considerations.

FUTURE WELFARE

It "would put our future welfare into the keeping of any provincial premier who wanted to turn nasty, though he might represent only a small fraction of the people."

The federal government had "abandoned its responsibilities

Election Answer To Come

OTTAWA (CP)—A letter asking for an election writ for Whitehorse East territorial constituency in the Yukon was received yesterday by Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer.

Mr. Castonguay said it will be a day or two before a reply is sent.

The federal government takes the view the Yukon territorial council is wholly competent to decide in the issue. Yukon's council declared Nov. 21—supporting a Speaker's ruling—that Norman Chamberlain should relinquish the seat he won in recent territorial election.

Don't Fight Each Other Balcer Urges Airlines

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Transport Minister Balcer yesterday urged Trans-Canada Air Lines and Canadian Pacific Airlines to fight foreign competition and not each other.

Balcer said he was seeking a policy which will be "fair and reasonable and in the interest of Canadian aviation" while at the same time providing a single front in dealing with other countries.

"If fighting is to take place," he said, "I believe the efforts of our two carriers should not be devoted to fighting each other."

"Those efforts should be aimed at the foreign competition which must be successfully countered if Canada's international airlines are to survive," he said.

B.C. Power Delays Christmas Pay-Out

By HARRY YOUNG
Columnist Business Editor

Holders of the common shares of B.C. Power Corporation are not to get their big pay-out in time for Christmas. They had been called to attend a meeting Dec. 8 in Vancouver at which the company was to have asked them to authorize a cash settlement of $18.70 a share as part proceeds of the sale of the B.C. Electric shares to the B.C. government.

It was announced yesterday that the meeting had been delayed for at least four weeks because no assurance had been received from the United Kingdom inland revenue department that the distribution would be treated by that country as a tax free capital distribution.

'NOT FAIR'

A B.C. Power Corporation spokesman said that about a quarter of the B.C. Power shareholders were from the United Kingdom and that it would not be fair to ask them to vote until this point had been cleared.

If the distribution is not to be tax free in the United Kingdom, the British shareholders of the company might have a chance to sell their shares before the distribution is approved. In that way they could avoid taxation.

Also before the supreme court of B.C. today is an injunction by the Royal Trust Company, against any distribution of B.C. Power funds until such time as the interests of the holders of the company's convertible debentures are safeguarded.

IN GOOD SHAPE

The report of Exquisite Form Brasserie (Canada) Ltd. for the six months ended Aug.

31, regales shareholders with the news that net earnings at $221,367 are up from $177,802 from the corresponding period of 1960.

In addition to informing them of the 20 per cent increase in net earnings, president H. L. Solomon lets shareholders into some of the secrets of the trade.

Mere man, of course, will be mystified, but no doubt the new sidewise designed brasserie, the comfort zone family of brasseries; the underwear that alims; the secret lady foundation garments and the silk skin seamless girdles are built to delight the fair sex, and to produce figures that will not only be shapely to the body but to the profit and loss account as well.

SULPHUR PLANTS OPEN

Jefferson Lake Petrochemicals of Canada Ltd. has opened the third of its Western Canadian sulphur extraction plants. Operations have commenced on the Saratoga gas processing plant near Coleman, Alberta, and when in full production it will have a capacity of 371 tons of elemental sulphur a day.

The sulphur is extracted from the sour natural gas which is piped to the plant from the Savanna gas field some 45 miles to the north.

Jefferson's other Canadian sulphur plants are at Taylor, B.C., and Calgary. The latter went into operation last month.

FOUR PER CENT OFFERED

Montreal Trust Company is introducing immediately a personal reserve account which will pay depositors 4 per cent interest based on a monthly balance. Cheap Eggs May Last To Holidays

A sudden and sharp oversupply of eggs from the Prairies sent the price of eggs toppling on the Pacific Coast this week.

At Victoria yesterday producers were being offered four cents a dozen less on Grade A large and medium eggs than last week, and the housewife will find eggs down at least that amount in the retail stores.

The trade expects these lower prices will prevail over the Christmas season.

Trade Bloc Plan Denied by Hees

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Hees denied yesterday a report that Canada has proposed formation of a Pacific trade bloc.

"It's news to me," Mr. Hees said.

The report said the trade group would include Canada, the United States and Japan, with Australia and New Zealand being invited to join later. Its purpose would be to offset losses from Britain's expected entry into the European Common Market.

"I'm not aware of anything of the kind," Mr. Hees said in an interview.

In his budget speech last June, Finance Minister Fleming rejected the idea of Canada joining trade blocs and resorted to Canada's policy of multi-lateral trading arrangements through the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Keep Prospecting Alive Uranium City's Appeal

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)—A delegation from this northern uranium-mining community is to fly to Ottawa to lay proposals for prospecting and development before the federal government.

The municipal council of Uranium City and district Monday announced it has "decided to send a strong delegation to meet the Conservative government in Ottawa to insist the government reinstate Eldorado Mining and Refining's right to prospect and develop the north country."

A date will be set later.

The council decision followed discussion of the Saskatchewan provincial prospectors' assistance plan at a recent meeting.

The council said it felt that, by investigating on the ground the anomalies discovered by an aerial survey this summer, Eldorado could possibly make mineral discoveries which could benefit this district 450 miles northeast of Edmonton.

The crown-owned Eldorado's prospecting branch was ordered by the federal government to discontinue prospecting and development work less than a year ago.

The aerial survey was a joint federal-provincial undertaking. Maps resulting from the survey are to be released some time this winter.

The council also passed a motion asking the federal government to give cash assistance to prospectors who avail themselves of the provincial prospectors' assistance plan.

TWO MASTERS?

The busiest and most vital time for the Mayor and Council is the six-week period from the end of January. This is when the City Budget is being prepared. It is the time of innumerable committee meetings and the burning of much midnight oil. It is the time when the tax rate is set for better or for worse, and demands constant attention of the mayor.

This is also the time when the Provincial Legislature is in full session and when the members of the House are busy day and night. How could the Mayor of the City be in two places at the same time? The answer is... it just couldn't be done! Any attempt to do so would mean that Victoria would likely end up as the low man on the totem pole.

Deficit Disappears

Export Trade Drive Pays Off in Year

OTTAWA (UPI)—One year ago Monday Trade and Commerce Minister George Hees launched his now-famous all-out drive to expand Canadian export trade.

On that occasion 1,365 Canadian businessmen gathered here to hear from Canadian trade commissioners, called in from around the world, the story of the opportunities Canadian industries were missing in foreign and Common wealth markets by sheer neglect.

The statistical background, against which the businessmen and trade commissioners held their round-table conference was a federal trade deficit of $148,000,000.

During the three days the meeting lasted the businessmen held 10,502 individual interviews with the trade commissioners.

FIGURES RELEASED

While officials of the department of trade and commerce held no formal anniversary ceremonies yesterday, they made available some figures and data indicating the momentum which has been rolled up from that beginning.

The 1960 trading deficit of $148,000,000 has been extinguished and a substantial favorable balance achieved in its place. For the first nine months of the year it stands at $50,000,000. Not since 1954 has the nation's trading balance been in the black—and the surplus for the whole year then was only $13,000,000.

SERVICES EXPANDED

Government services have been expanded to underwrite the needs of Canadian firms competing for business abroad. New facilities include the provision of long-term export credits, the services of a national design council to assist in giving eye-appeal to Canadian products, and the establishment of a national productivity council.

Sensible Approach Urged for Columbia

Opposition Leader Strachan called yesterday for efforts on all sides to re-establish a "happy and sensible approach" to development of the Columbia River.

"The people of Canada would give a great deal of credit to the individual who made the first move," he said. "Something more than face-saving is involved."

Mr. Strachan said it is time "all of these people who have been going berserk stopped doing so and took a long look at the whole situation."

"Irrespective of whether it is a federal or a provincial blunder, a blunder has been made. I'm appealing to both

Through this pipe passes B.C.'s best bargain

Compared with other commodities in everyday use, you won't find a better bargain than Esso gasoline. Average cost per pound of Esso throughout B.C., 6 1/2 cents. That's a real bargain... even common table salt costs more per pound than Esso. And of the 6 1/2 cents paid per pound for Esso gasoline, two cents is for federal and provincial taxes that help supply such things as new highways and social services. Bringing you this gasoline bargain takes a lot of costly equipment, and a lot of know-how. It takes things like Imperial's product pipe line that goes under the water of Burrard Inlet and then over a mountain to link the company's modern B.C. refinery with new and enlarged marketing terminals. It includes Imperial's search for new oil fields in northern B.C.; drilling for more oil at Boundary Lake; modern marketing facilities. Since 1951 alone, Imperial has invested over $80,000,000 in B.C. to bring you gasoline at bargain prices. The price Imperial receives for Esso gasoline is, on the average, less today than it was ten years ago...yet Esso gasoline today is much more powerful than ten years ago.

There are hundreds of ways you can enjoy being out of doors this winter. Racing ice yachts is one. Or a simple weekend drive will stimulate body and soul.

WHY HIBERNATE?

Shell offers 10 cold weather driving tips to help you enjoy your car more this winter.

When it's crisp blue and white on the weekend, blow away your winter cobwebs—take to the highways and byways. The exercise will do your car a power of good, too.

Before you go, read the 10 tips below. Chances are you'll find a few fresh tricks of the trade to help your car start certainly, perform smoothly.

REMEMBER, the 10 tips below will help you handle your car this winter. They assume it is already in good shape. If your car is out of condition, odds are it will let you down before winter's out. Have your Shell dealer check it over for you.

1. How to start your car in zero weather

When your engine is turning willingly but still won't fire—don't pump the gas pedal. You'll only flood the combustion chamber with raw gasoline. Instead, press the pedal to the floor, and hold it there while the engine turns over. This way, extra air will be added to the mixture—which was probably over-rich.

Note: in winter, Super Shell is primed with extra butane, an ingredient eager to vaporize, even on the coldest night. So eager that it would boil in your refrigerator, if you could remove it from Super Shell's formula. The extra butane helps winter blend Super Shell start your engine in a hurry.

2. How to get moving on ice

A spinning wheel only polishes ice—never helps you take off. What to do. First, make sure your front wheels point straight ahead. This cuts resistance. Then press on the gas pedal tenderly. Use second gear, or the drive range of an automatic shift. A bag of sand in the trunk helps traction by adding weight to the rear wheels. For double duty, use the sand under the tires.

3. Why you should NOT idle your engine to warm it up

Even in the coldest weather, wait only until the engine is running smoothly before pulling away. Engineers have discovered that wear can be increased by letting your car chug away in the driveway. At the very least it wastes your gas dollars. Help your engine warm up quickly by driving away promptly, but at a moderate speed. Never make it work hard until it's warm.

Note: Another cold-beating ingredient in Super Shell is mixed pentanes. Like kindling in a log fire, mixed pentanes get everything going faster. Your engine warms up more quickly. (This is important—engines wear faster when they're cold.)

4. How to get out of deep snow

Try the ice technique first. If the car will move, rock it out of the hole by using forward and reverse gears quickly in turn. Another tip—use a sack under the tire to get traction.

5. How to guard against skids—and how to correct them

When the going is slippery, shun any abrupt movement. Turn gently, brake gently, accelerate gently. When you start out, test your brake and gas pedals extra cautiously to find out just how slippery the road actually is. (Ice at 32° F. is twice as slippery as ice at zero.)

In a skid, take your foot off the gas pedal, but leave it off the brake. Turn the wheel the same way the rear end is sliding.

Note: The wider, deeper tread on snow tires can make your car more "sure-footed". Your Shell dealer stocks leading nationally-respected makes of snow tires.

6. Why your car needs to be washed more often in winter

Road salt is murder on metal. But here's the rub—it's packed mud or snow that actually hold salt against the underside of your car. The mud clings while the salt works away. If you abhor rust bubbles and pock-marked chrome, have your Shell dealer wash your car regularly—both where it shows and where the salted mudpachs live.

7. Why you should keep your gas tank full in winter

Never let your gas tank get below half full. The less air in the tank, the less moisture there is to condense. Water formed by condensation can collect in your tank, if it gets into the gas-line and freezes it can cut the fuel supply dead. Your Shell dealer can take away worries about gas-line freezing by adding fresh gas-line anti-freeze every other time you fill up.

8. How to revive a "drowned" engine

Sometimes, driving snow builds up under the hood of a parked car. When you move away and things warm up, the snow melts—causes electrical shorts that snuff out your engine.

Prevention—after your car's been out in a snow storm, check under the hood before you start up. If you find snow on the engine—brush it off. Cure—carry an aerosol can of water dispersing chemical in your glove compartment. (You can get one at your Shell station.) Spray the chemical over the wet parts.

It will dry out your electrical system quickly by displacing the moisture.

9. How to stop locks from freezing—and how to free them

Have your Shell dealer squirt graphite into door and trunk locks, and chances are you'll have no trouble. If you do find yourself out in the cold, heat the key with a match.

10. Why your car NEEDS a change of pace

A steady diet of city and suburban driving can foul up your engine with impurities. It will sound and feel rough. When you take a trip at highway speeds, engine deposits are shaken free and fly out of the tailpipe.

Note: Shell X-100 Premium is the only motor oil that protects your engine against impurities by "plating" metal surfaces with a thin chemical film. This acts as a barrier against acid attack. X-100 Premium also guards your engine by lubricating surely, both at the coldest temperatures and on the highway. This is because it's a multi-grade year-round oil—resists thickening on a January night or thinning out in Florida.

From Belmont School

Stolen Instruments Found in Vancouver

Seven of eight band instruments stolen last Friday from Belmont High School in Colwood have been recovered in Vancouver. RCMP said last night.

The instruments were identified by Colwood RCMP who went to Vancouver yesterday.

Students themselves owned almost all of the stolen instruments: one trombone, three clarinets, two cornets, one alto saxophone and one bass clarinet.

ONE MISSING
One of the three clarinets is the only instrument not accounted for.

Vancouver city police Sunday received word that some men were trying to sell band instruments in a cafe.

Investigation led to recovery of the seven instruments in a hotel room in the mainland city, and a night-long vigil resulted in the arrest of four men who are being held.

When the students get their instruments back depends on what charges are laid in Vancouver and here, police said, and on whether the accused plead guilty or innocent.

Premier Manning said Monday that drivers now holding a class "A" licence will be allowed to continue to operate buses until they have been tested in a school bus and those applying for the first time will be tested in a school bus before the licence is granted. The premier did not say when the testing would begin.

The premier's prepared statement contained about 30 recommendations of a government-appointed committee on school bus operations with comments on them by the highways department.

It said the provincial highways department has begun a comprehensive survey of every level crossing in Alberta, and the information obtained will be made available to any municipality.

Recommendations that all municipal districts bring grades at railway crossings up to the same standards as those on provincial highways, and that they clear all blind intersections, were being carried out, the statement said.

It also said legislation will be proposed at the next session of the legislature which would require bus drivers to open bus doors and the left-hand driver's window when looking for a train.

Inspection forms were being printed, the statement said, to require a statutory declaration by the mechanic, rather than just his signature and certificate number, when semi-annual inspection of school buses is made. The inspections are required by law in the province.

REGULATIONS
Regulations are being prepared, the statement said, to require on new school buses: An electric windshield wiper; windshield washers; dry powder fire extinguishers; first shields; a left-hand driver's window capable of being opened easily; an axe and small crowbar; a buzzer to warn the driver when the emergency door is opened; right and left outside rear-view mirrors; exhaust ventilation fan adequate to provide fresh air, and an adequate number of push-out windows.

Clowns Get $50,000

TORONTO (CP) — Two bandits disguised as clowns Monday robbed a suburban Scarborough bank of an estimated $50,000 but dropped about $30,000 as they fled through a window they had broken.

The robbers, one carrying a tommygun, and the other a sawed-off rifle, hurled a five-foot length of pipe through a plate glass window and burst through the jagged opening shortly before 9 a.m.

Outside the bandits had left. After abandoning the car, the men were seen to get into a second vehicle which police away in it but it was abandoned a short distance away, plates.

and a three-way tie is a possibility. All it needs is for the Giants to beat the Eagles and lose to the Browns while the Eagles take Detroit Lions in their last game.

It appeared for a quarter Sunday that the league's two best defenses were in for a rough day as the Packers pushed into a 13-7 lead. It was 17-13 for the Giants at half-time but the Packers won it on a fine play by Jesse Whitte-

Two quick touchdowns on veteran Hugh McElhenny pushed his career yardage total to 42-21, with rookie-quarterback Fran Tarkenton throwing four touchdowns passes.

Green Bay Packers, beaten in last year's National Football League final by Philadelphia. Sunday gave themselves a good chance for revenge over the Eagles.

Taking full advantage of the breaks and with their defensive club matching that of the New York Giants, the Packers clinched the Western Division championship with a 20-17 win over the Giants.

Defeat dropped the Giants into a first-place tie with the Eagles, who dropped Pittsburgh Steelers, 35-24, to set up next Sunday's Philadelphia-New York game as the most crucial of the season.

And it's a must win for the Giants, who appeared to have the Eastern Division honors sewn up and now have to beat their two closest pursuers to make it.

ALL SET UP
Only a game behind the Giants and Eagles are Cleveland's Browns, 38-17 winners over Dallas Cowboys on Sunday. The Giants have to play the Browns on the following Sunday as the schedule ends

George Did As Chargers Take Skid

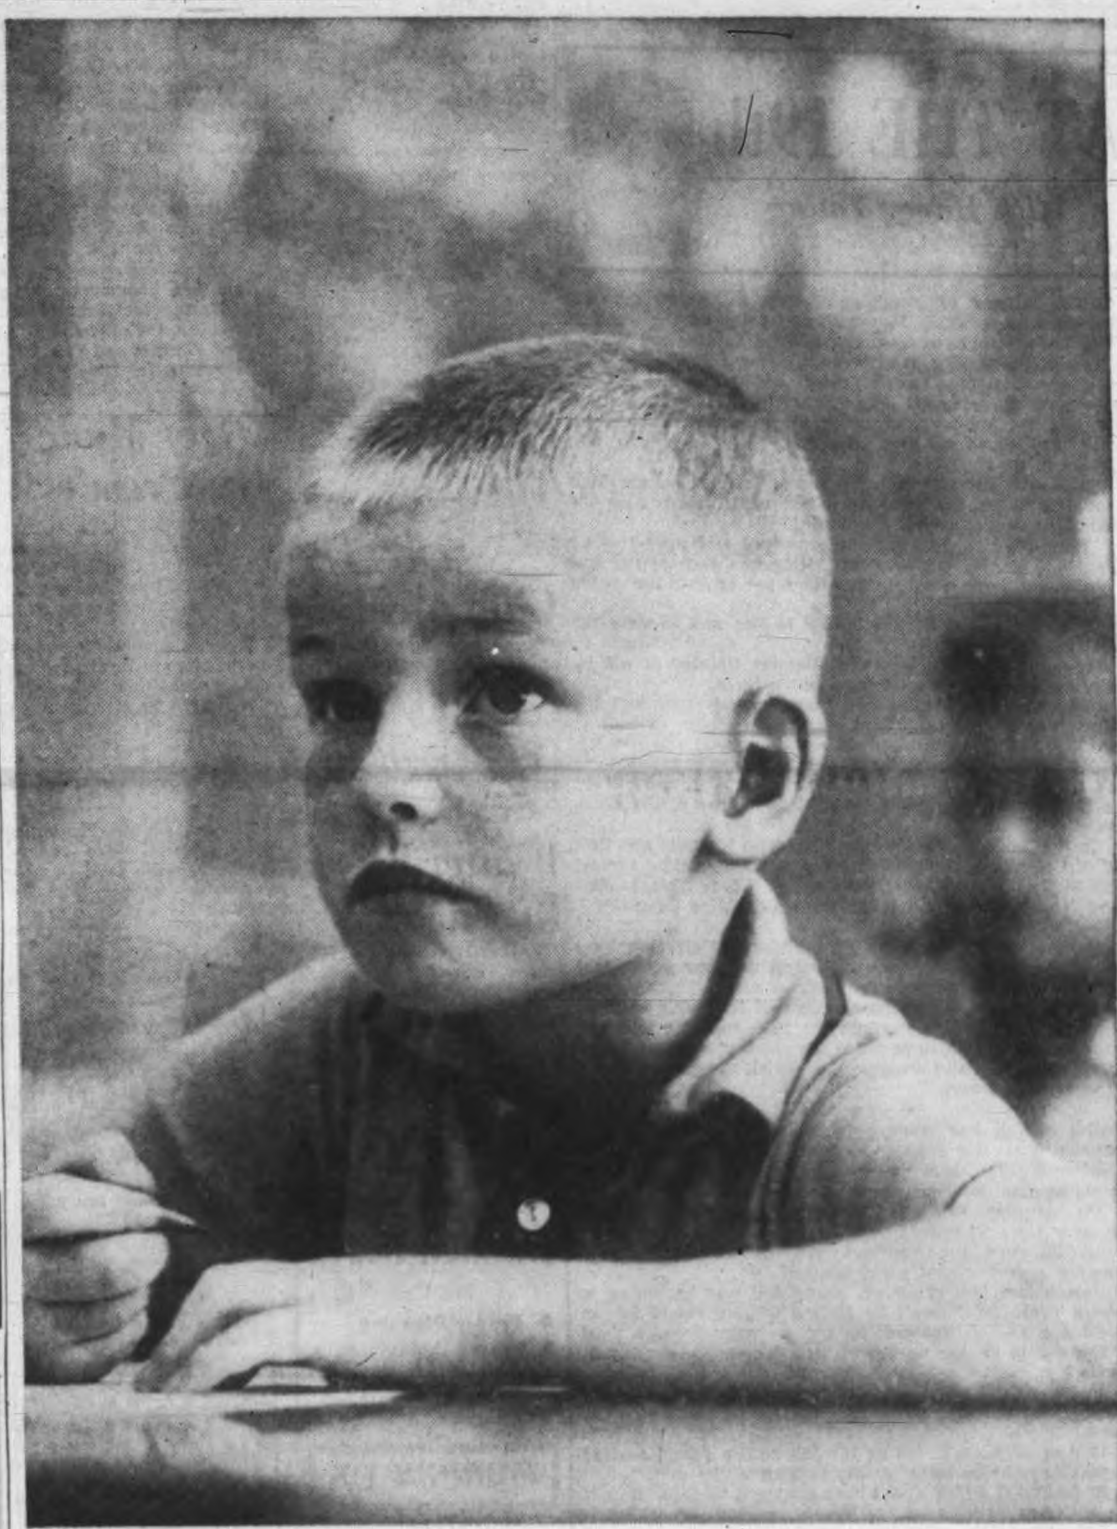

Houston Oilers Sunday exposed San Diego Chargers as something less than the all-conquering American Football League power they had been thought to be.

Led by George Blanda, a veteran quarterback let go by the National Football League three seasons ago, the Oilers ended the Chargers' nine-game win streak with a thumping 33-13 victory in a game which was almost certainly a preview of the AFL final.

Blanda threw four touchdowns passes, kicked three conversions and booted 53-yard and 23-yard field goals.

Victory all but assured the Oilers of the Eastern Division title. They can make it by beating New York Titans and Oakland Raiders in their last two games. Earlier this season, they beat the Titans, 49-13, and the Raiders, 55-0.

Chargers have already clinched the Western Division championship.

Two Men, Boy Hurt In Three Accidents

Traffic accidents injured three people in the Greater Victoria area yesterday afternoon. None was badly hurt, although one was admitted to hospital for observation.

HEAD-ON CRASH

Henry Bus, 58, of Maple Bay, suffered cuts to the forehead and an injured hand and knee in a head-on crash on Goldstream Falls near the picnic area entrance on Trans-Canada Highway.

HIT BY CAR

At 3:50 p.m., police said, six-year-old Bobby Maxwell, 1119 Johnson, was hit by a car as he darted from between parked cars into the path of one driven by Norman Britnell of Sooke on Johnson near Cook.

Police took the boy to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated for a bruised left leg and allowed to go home.

When cars driven by Richard

Hamilton, 12, Charter Road, Sooke, and John L. Ward, 2938 Lancaster, collided at 6:10 p.m. at Government and Fisgard, Hamilton suffered a cut forehead but refused medical attention.

Canada Won't Admit Claim to Formosa

REGINA (CP) — Canada is not prepared to admit that Red China has the right to take over Formosa, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said in Regina Monday.

He gave this as the reason for Canada's opposition to a Russian resolution to seat Communist China in the United Nations and United Nations General Assembly.

"We are not prepared to vote for admission of Red China until something is done about Formosa," he said in an interview.

missing were Jack Faulkner and Leo Sirks, believed hunting in the Mineral Hill area.

Earlier, a 70-year-old man picking Christmas greenery was killed 14 miles south of Courtenay Sunday by an 11-year-old hunter who mistook him for a deer.

KILLED INSTANTLY

Murdoch McDonald, of Buckley Bay, a part-time mill worker, was killed instantly by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun.

The accident happened about one mile west of Buckley Bay on a second-growth forest reached by logging roads.

FOURTH FATALITY

It was the fourth hunting fatality this season on Vancouver Island. Others were at Happy Valley and in the Alberni area.

RCMP said the victim was picking salad and other greens for Christmas use when he was mistaken for a deer and fired at by the boy. No charge was laid.

WITH FATHER

The unidentified boy was hunting with his father and brother, all of Union Bay, about five miles north of where the tragedy occurred.

Mr. McDonald is survived by his wife, at home; three sons, Warren of Victoria, Norman and Campbell of Fanny Bay; and three daughters, Mrs. Christina Daunhauer of Colwood, Mrs. Clara Brass of North Surrey and Mrs. Leonora Morden of Saskatoon.

Mac's Bermuda Meeting Aimed at United Stand

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan will press for a united Western position on Berlin negotiations when he meets President Kennedy in Bermuda, diplomatic observers said Monday.

Sources in Paris said Macmillan put a forcible case for new overtures to Russia on Berlin in his meeting with President de Gaulle of France 10 days ago.

But they said de Gaulle maintained that Allied offers of negotiations at this time would risk a weakening of the Western position.

They said de Gaulle believes standing pat already has caused the Russians to withdraw

Major Step Taken To Christian Unity

NEW DELHI (AP) — A world-wide cross-section of Christians took a major step Monday toward the unity of all Christians.

The general assembly of the World Council of Churches overwhelmingly adopted a guide calling for mutual recognition of ministries and members and joint participation in the Lord's supper.

It was the first time the world council — representing 196 Protestant, Orthodox and other church bodies — traced the framework of its goal of Christian unity.

It "will involve nothing less than a death and rebirth of many forms of church life as we have known them," the council declared. "We believe that nothing less costly can finally suffice."

Two Canadian church leaders were named Monday to the central committee of the World Council of Churches.

They are Most Rev. William Wright of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Anglican Archbishop of Algoma and metropolitan of the ecclesiastical province of Ontario, and Rev. Ernest E. Long of Toronto, secretary of the United Church of Canada.

Oil Furnace Causes Small Fire

Minor damage was caused an Oak Bay home last night when an oil furnace blew back shortly after 8 p.m.

Owner James Dickson was out of town when firemen were called to his home at 858 Newport. They had to break a basement window to get in. They found oil had ignited on the basement floor after flooding from the furnace. Fire damage was slight, but only smoke drifted through the house.

Coroner Raps Drink Servers

COURTENAY — Criticism of bartenders and liquor outlet operators who serve liquor to people in advanced stages of intoxication was made by Coroner T. A. Menzies in Cumberland yesterday.

Mr. Menzies, conducting an inquest into the death of Donald Day following a car accident Nov. 10, learned the alcohol count of Day's blood was .3, while a count of .15 is accepted as indicating impairment.

Day's movements that day were traced until 2:30 p.m. when he left a Cumberland public house. Police, quoting a witness who was not called, stated Day was denied admission to another hotel at 4:30 p.m., but police could not find if or where Day was drinking between then and when he left Cumberland for Courtenay nearly an hour later.

He was fatally injured on that drive.

BEING WITHHELD

Mr. Menzies made it clear he felt evidence was deliberately being withheld and criticized what he felt was a common practice of people being served liquor when they had more than enough.

The verdict was accidental death.

Quebec 'Rebel' Quits Ottawa Job, Language

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. Marcel Chaput cut himself off Monday from both his federal job and the English language to promote a separate French-speaking state in Quebec.

The 43-year-old head of a Quebec separatist movement resigned from the Defence Research Board after being suspended for two weeks. He had disobeyed a board order publicly only in French and will refuse to reply to anyone questioning him in English.

True Nation

Fighting For Identity

TORONTO (CP)—Confederation will be saved only if Canada is strong enough to build a true Canadian nation, Jean-Louis Gagnon, vice-president and editor-in-chief of Le Nouveau Journal of Montreal, said yesterday.

Discussing Quebec's separatist movement, the executive of Canada's newest daily newspaper said Quebec is fighting for its identity just as English-speaking Canada is fighting to "save its integrity" from U.S. encroachment.

"We know what is the price one has to pay to be different," he said. "We have been told to speak French is a luxury."

Jet Port Starts In 1963

VANCOUVER (CP)—Transport Minister Balcer said yesterday construction of a $16,000,000 to $18,000,000 jet-age terminal will start early in 1963 at Vancouver International Airport.

He said it should be finished by mid-1966. Mr. Balcer came to Vancouver to formally open Trans-Canada Air Lines' new $5,000,000 jet maintenance base at the airport.

He said transfer of the airport to the federal government will take place on schedule next April. Vancouver ratepayers last June approved sale of the airport to the government for $2,750,000.

$6,600,000 Paid by B.C. In Ferry Deal

VANCOUVER (CP)—Capt. Alex Peabody, chairman of Black Ball Ferries, said Sunday the provincial government expropriated his firm by purchasing $6,600,000 worth of debentures.

He said the debentures had been issued by Black Ball to Puget Sound Navigation, its parent company, and to the public 10 years ago and that some of them have been paid off.

DECLINE COMMENT
Capt. Peabody declined comment on whether this was how the total purchase price of $6,795,000 was reached and if it meant the ferry firm received only about $200,000 for its stock.

Pay Increase For Servants In Alberta?

EDMONTON (UPI)—The Alberta Civil Service Association has asked the provincial cabinet for a 4 1/2 per cent across the board wage increase.

Association president L. E. Stewart said the proposal received a good hearing from the government.

However, the government expressed concern over the additional cost and asked for time to study the request, he said. Civil service wages in the province now amount to $40,000,000 annually.

Car Flew 90 Feet -Witness

VERNON (CP)—A car which crashed in Westbank Sept. 3 killing one occupant and injuring four others travelled 90 feet in the air after it left Highway 97, RCMP Cpl. William Stacey testified in assize court yesterday.

Cpl. Stacey was giving evidence in the trial of James Robert Clough, 21, of Westbank, for criminal negligence in the death of Joseph Thomat, 24, of the Westbank Indian Reserve.

Vessel Crew Saved

VANCOUVER (CP)—Five men were rescued yesterday as their fishboat sank after a collision with another vessel 30 miles south of Prince Rupert.

Search and rescue authorities here said the U.S. fishing vessels Melco I and Western Traveller collided at the north end of Grenville Channel at 3:30 a.m.

Crew of the Western Traveller was taken off the vessel by the Melco I immediately after the collision.

Bennett Refuses PNR Statement

The provincial government is still not commenting on the present status of the long-stalled Pacific Northern Railway.

Transport Minister Earle C. Westwood promised to announce "something definite" about the railroad last week but left for the East without doing so.

Yesterday Premier Bennett

curly declined to comment on the question.

The Wenner-Gren backers of the line, which was to have run from Summit Lake, north of Prince George, to the Yukon border, had originally agreed to let firm contracts for the clearing of the first 100 miles of right-of-way by early last month.

No contracts were let and there has been speculation the railroad project is dead.

The annual sale of Christmas TB seals is gathering momentum.

More Pay for Engineers

Pay increases ranging from $36 to $55 a month for provincial government stationary engineers gave new hope to

B.C. civil servants yesterday that their request for pay boosts from five to 20 per cent would be successful.

The engineers got exactly what was asked for.

New rates are: Grade Two, $376 from $340; Grade Three, $440 from $385; and Grade Four, $503 from $450. The boosts are retroactive to April 1.

Other civil servants are hopeful the prompt acceptance of the engineer's requests means they will receive similar treatment.

Maple Street needs another Volkswagen.

When you own a Volkswagen, you can expect company after a snow storm. Inquisitive company. They'll want to know why your car got through the drifts, and theirs didn't.

There's no trick to it. A Volkswagen has its engine in the rear where it does the most good. The extra weight over the drive wheels provides an amazing amount of traction, even on icy hills. When you want to stop safely, but in a hurry, the VW's traction keeps you out of trouble.

Another blessing in cold weather is the VW's air-cooled engine. There's no water, so there's no need for anti-freeze. You don't even need a garage. (If your Volkswagen won't start in sub-zero weather, check the gas gauge.)

Look underneath a conventional car and you'll find wires and rods and whatnot, in deep snow they can be a drag, and they can be damaged. The underside of a Volkswagen is completely covered with a smooth sheet of metal. There's nothing to hold you back but your own caution.

So, if clearing a snow-filled driveway is not for you, make friends with a Volkswagen owner. Or, better still, a Volkswagen dealer.

Fought

City morals committee is seeking stricter control of "filthy" books easily available to children in Victoria.

A resolution to this effect is being prepared for submission to Ottawa officials.

The action follows a Colonist story Oct. 25 which highlighted the sale of paperbacks with themes of normal and abnormal sex.

ARTICLE COPIED
The morals committee took notice of the situation when a complaint was received from P. J. Tarr, 1137 Yates, including a typewritten copy of the Colonist article.

The committee also decided to seek the views of members of Victoria Library board before submitting the resolution to city council.

Only one member of the board available for comment last night had knowledge of the type of paperbacks being sold on some racks.

W. C. Angus, 30 King George Terrace, said that some paperbacks should be banned.

For Villa Blitz

With $23,500 already in hand and more canvassers still to be heard from, Victoria Kiwanians are confident they'll exceed their $25,000 objective in last night's "blitz" campaign for completion of Kiwanis Villa.

Campaign chairman W. W. Sinclair announced the figures at the close of the evening count.

He added there still was mail to come in with other donations.

Campaign officials expressed delight and appreciation over the enthusiasm with which canvassers tackled the city-wide job.

"They were terrific," one spokesman said, "particularly the high school students."

Charges Scapped

'Two Master' Issue
Warms Up
Saanich Campaign

The Saanich election campaign grew heated last night as candidates for the reserve swapped charges of "conflict of interest" and "serving two masters."

Coun. Leslie Passmore started the ball rolling by charging John Tisdalle, as M.L.A., couldn't serve both Saanich council and the provincial government on such matters as school taxation, where the two levels of government hold opposite views.

WOULD DESIGN

Mr. Tisdalle hit back with charges that Coun. Passmore also served two masters by attending to council business after his regular working hours. The M.L.A. vowed he would never become a "five o'clock shadow" councillor and said he would resign his job in real estate and insurance if elected.

Coun. Stanley Murphy remained aloof until the question period of last night's all-candidate meeting sponsored by Saanich Voters' Association.

SUFFICIENT TIME

He said his 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. teaching job would permit him to attend municipal hall during working hours. He denied "implications" by his opponents that he would not be able to devote sufficient time to the job of reeve.

Some 75 ratepayers attended the meeting in Tolmie CCF Hall on Richmond Road.

NOT MUCH CHOICE

"Unless you are retired there is not much choice," he said. "But I don't like the implication that I'm working at a regular job, prohibiting one from working effectively as a councillor. It takes a bit of doing, but it can be done."

Harry Kingsley, a retired naval officer, said he would favor day meetings of council as a means of "getting more things done."

TAX REVENUE

Mr. Kingsley said he favors removal of school taxation from property and placing it on provincial revenues from either income or sales taxes.

Robert Ostler said he would "agitate" for establishment of an industrial development committee for Saanich.

Mrs. Mira Yarwood said the roof of all Saanich problems was the fact the municipal tax base wasn't broad enough.

CREATE CONFIDENCE
She said better residential and commercial development could be attracted by "creating confidence" in planning.

Lionel Speller said he was "for planning within reason" but wanted to be sure ratepayers were getting the best return for their tax dollar.

G. Stanley Eden said there are lots of things to plan in the municipality besides town planning.

BIG BUDGET
"There are 1,001 problems that need planning," said Mr. Eden. "We have a budget of $4,000,000."

Reginald Sinkinson said his 12 years as a school trustee would make him a "militant" advocate of relief for the individual owner from the burden of education costs.

Mrs. A. B. Thompson, seeking re-election to the school board, said local schools are doing much in the field of vocational training for youngsters.

ACKNOWLEDGE CANADA
Local pre-employment classes have spread across Canada.

Richard Hilton, candidate for trustee, hit out at the lack of initiative shown by school boards in setting up vocational technical schools.

Vital
Issue
Seen

Mayorality candidate R. B. Wilson yesterday launched an all-out attack on his opponent, Victoria M.L.A. J. Donald Smith, charging an "insidious attempt to infiltrate" provincial politics into city council.

"The vital issue of this whole campaign is an attempt by a member of the provincial legislature to serve two masters, by sitting in the provincial house and at the same time acting as mayor of the City of Victoria," he said.

"The voters of the city of Victoria are faced with one of the most important decisions that they have had to make."

"The repercussions of how this is decided will be felt outside the confines of this immediate area."

"This is a matter of vital principle. If provincial politics enter city hall the aldermen will no longer be free men."

OVER SHOULDER

"Their deliberation would always have the shadow of provincial interests looking over their shoulders."

"I am amazed and greatly encouraged by the many manifestations of righteous anger on all sides about this insidious attempt to infiltrate the council chamber."

NOT INVITED

Mr. Wilson was speaking at a meeting of Victoria Gyro Club. Mr. Smith was not invited to address the meeting.

Mr. Wilson, aldermanic candidate William Hudson and Gordon Elworthy, who is seeking the reeve ship of Oak Bay, spoke to the meeting. All are members of the Gyro Club.

FREQUENT EVENT

"Conflict of interest happens frequently between the provincial and municipal governments," Mr. Wilson said.

"The bus service and school taxes are two outstanding examples that no man can serve two masters... The six weeks following the end of January are the most critical and time-consuming period for mayor and council."

MIDNIGHT OIL

"The budget for the year is being prepared and the mayor and his council are constantly at work, burning much midnight oil in the process."

"At the very same time the provincial government is in full session and the members there are busy day and night."

EFFICIENT BUDGET

"How could a mayor give his time and energy to the protection of the taxpayers through the implementation of an efficient budget and yet fulfill his duties as a member of the legislature?"

"The answer, of course, is that it couldn't be done."

LOW ON TOTEM

"The likelihood would be that the city of Victoria would end up low man on the totem pole."

Mr. Wilson devoted two-thirds of his address to the attack on Mr. Smith.

Murdoch Hits Back
At 'Secrets' Charge

Reeve George Murdoch yesterday lashed back at reeve-ship candidate Coun. Gordon Elworthy for charges the reeve has failed to keep the public informed on municipal affairs.

Coun. Elworthy said that if he is elected he will throw some committee hearings open to the public. He said it seems the reeve "believes in keeping the public informed only of those things he thinks it is good for them to know."

Reeve Murdoch countered it is council and not he which makes the decision to conduct business in camera.

"He (Coun. Elworthy) has been on council for three years and something he should know by now is that the reeve does not set the policy," said Reeve Murdoch.

"Policy is set by council and, if meetings are to be held in camera and a councillor moves you go into committee of the whole, the motion is seconded and passed by majority, the reeve has no control over it," he said.

Toy Mountain

Victoria bingo addicts last night inundated the foyer of Memorial Arena under a mountain of 3,000 toys as 8,000 people turned out for a crack at $7,000 worth of prizes.

Patrons who brought a toy for the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund were given free tickets on a draw for 10 turkeys.

After the Kinmen Giant Bingo was over and the prizes all distributed, the toys were loaded onto Reliable Transfer trucks and hauled away to Maynard's Auction Rooms.

Later in the month, they'll be auctioned off to the highest bidder and proceeds will go to the Colonist 500 Fund.

Woman Seeks Help

Money for Christmas
Scattered in Breeze

A capricious gust of wind ripped a woman's purse open at Fort and Douglas during yesterday's fair and scattered $70 of her Christmas pay.

Mrs. Florence Fisher, 2162 Cadboro Bay Road, said last night she will have a bleak Christmas unless the money, returned. She doesn't get paid again until Dec. 28.

"I've got a little girl to buy Christmas presents for yet," she said. "This was all the money I've got in the world until next payday."

Passerby returned cancelled cheques and Mrs. Fisher's driver's license. Two RCMP officers rounded up $32. But $70 in denominations of $10 and less was scattered by the wind.

Mrs. Fisher is hoping that anyone who found any of the bills will call her at EV-5-6032.

Easy Hamburger Bake Casserole Tastes Just as Good as It Looks

Meat-and-potatoes casserole can be prepared well in advance, then just tossed into the oven to heat while you toss a salad and look forward to a delicious meal.

On a cold winter day, there's nothing quite so good—or so easy—as a hearty meat-and-potatoes casserole.

Casseroles, which can be prepared hours or even days in advance, are a boon to the busy housewife. Just a toss of a salad, a last-minute touch to the dessert, and the hostess can relax with her guests or family while her main course bubbles in the oven.

Hamburger Bake is a casserole that will delight every member of the family. Its appetizing appearance will please the discriminating women who insist that food should look as good as it tastes. The combination of mashed potatoes and hamburger is a perennial favorite with men and boys. And for the hostess it is a treat to make, for instant potato flakes are recommended—she can forget about washing, scraping and peeling, and use flakes to get the same creamy goodness in three minutes. The topping of mashed potatoes goes on a tasty combination of freshly cooked green beans, tomato soup and hot pieces of lightly browned hamburger.

Tomato Au Gratin Pie is another casserole dish that is attractive, tasty and easy to make. It has a rich, cheesy flavor that both children and grown-ups will love. This recipe recommends use of a package of high-quality au gratin potatoes, giving the housewife the same delicious result with a fraction of the time and effort.

HAMBURGER BAKE

One medium onion, chopped; 1 lb. ground beef; 1 tsp. salt; dash pepper; 1 pkg. frozen green beans, cooked; 1 can condensed cream of tomato soup; 1 envelope instant mashed potato flakes; 1 1/2 cup grated cheese.

Cook onion in small amount of hot fat until tender. Spoon off excess fat. Add meat and seasonings and brown lightly. Mix with drained beans and soup; pour into 1 1/2-quart casserole.

Prepare potato flakes according to package directions. Drop in fluffs over meat. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake at 350°F. for 25 minutes. Makes four generous servings.

TOMATO AU GRATIN PIE

One pkg. Au gratin potatoes; 2 1/2 cups boiling water; 1 tsp. butter; 4 slices, bacon, cooked, drained and crumbled; 1 small tomato, sliced thinly.

Combine potatoes and sauce mix with boiling water, butter and bacon in 1 1/2 qt. casserole. Place tomato slices on top so that they cover mixture. Cover and bake at 375°F. for 45 minutes. Serves four.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Although we hardly speak, my next-door neighbors' kids practically live in my house.

She's a fuss-budget when it comes to orderliness—you know the type—wet-mops her front porch every morning and shines the old mailbox with silver polish. She probably hates to have her own home messed up so she turns her kids loose on the neighbors.

They walk in without knocking, use our bathroom, help themselves to food in the refrigerator and even go through the dresser drawers. Their mother never looks for them, not even at meal time. I've had to send them home for lunch frequently. Frankly, I've had it. What can I do? Remember, I scarcely know the woman.

Dear Ann Landers: I will be 13 in a few months but I am very grown up for my age. My mother likes my older sister better than she likes me and she gives my sister the breaks.

This is what's happening right now. My sister is having a boy-girl party for her 17th birthday. Mom says I can say hello to the guests but after that I have to go to my aunt's house for the night. I think the real reason I'm not wanted is because my sister is afraid I will get some attention from the boys. My actions are very grown up and I am cuter than most of the dummies she is inviting.

Do you think it is fair for a grown-up girl to be kicked out of her own home just because her older sister is having a party? Please stick up for me. VERY MATURE.

Dear Ann Landers: I am almost sure my boy friend is taking dope but I can't prove it.

He has needle marks on his arms and his eyes always look watery and dull. His moodiness is more than I can stand. Some days he's in the clouds and other days he's in the dumps. I started to wonder when he quit his day-time job and began working at night. He never seems to have a dime on him and he has borrowed $40 from me in the last two months.

I can't get a straight answer about what he is doing. He says he's an assistant manager to a man who runs a tobacco store. The store has no phone and I can't get an address.

I love this guy and I'm worried about him. Shall I tell him of my suspicions? I want to help but what can I do? SHOOK.

Dear Ann Landers: I am almost sure my boy friend is taking dope but I can't prove it.

Spinning Wheel Back For Homespun Look

MONTREAL (CP)—The art of making attractive clothes from homespun materials is being revived in Quebec province, where the spinning wheel was once considered a necessity in every household.

The driving force behind the revival of the almost forgotten art is Mrs. Veronique-Arseneau of Montreal, considered an expert in weaving and dressmaking.

She feels that regardless of financial status, a Canadian girl with a little taste and a grain of patience can wear original, high-quality clothes that reflect her personality.

WEAVE AND SEW

The first winner of a grand prize for handicraft offered by the Quebec department of trade and industry, Mrs. Arseneau is encouraging women and girls to weave and sew the clothes they wish to wear.

She plans to try to drive her point home during a handicraft exhibition at Montreal's show mart and continuing until Dec. 10.

VARIED COLLECTION

She has prepared for the exhibition an original collection of multi-colored skirts, designed by Raymonde Rollet, young Montreal designer. The collection, woven from a variety of materials, includes skirts for every occasion—cocktail parties, evening wear, sports, the office and dancing. Craig Miller in Greenwood. During Mrs. Blandy's absence her home will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. T. M. Barrett.

Visiting San Francisco

Among Victorians who have recently registered at British Columbia House in San Francisco are Mr. R. A. Lauson, Mr. R. D. Sedger, Mr. and Mrs. D. N. J. Wardell, Miss Jane Munro, Mr. L. B. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cox, Commander D. J. Sheppard, RCN, Commander A. L. Collier, RCN, Mr. Harry Harrod, Mrs. W. B. Irving, Mrs. F. L. Lodge, Miss Elizabeth Grey and Miss Margaret Jackson. Mrs. G. A. Maude of Salt Spring Island also registered.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Dawson, 1200 Union Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joanne Margaret, to Mr. Rodney Victor Kirkham, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Kirkham, 1090 Lodge Avenue. The wedding will take place Wednesday, Dec. 27, at 7:30 p.m., in First United Church. Rev. A. I. Higgins will officiate. Mr. Kirkham is a graduate of University of British Columbia with a degree in science; Miss Dawson also graduated from UBC, in arts. Miss Dawson's attendants will be Mrs. R. Craigie of Vancouver, Miss Barri Worthington, Victoria, and Miss Faye Smith, Vancouver. Mr. Robert Cameron will be best man, and Mr. Dennis Begg, Mr. David Dawson and Mr. John Dawson, ushers.

At this time, said Dr. Pickering, face lifting is still the only satisfactory method. Of this type of cosmetic surgery he said, "It's moderately effective, but not perfect."

North Americans in Paris Start Club for 'Uprooted'

PARIS—A group of some 50 American women in Paris call themselves the "waisted ambassador" to France. They are the members of a newly founded club grouping American wives of French husbands. The club's aim is to help each other adjust to their new homeland as well as to promote better understanding between French and Americans.

The club's president, slim, blonde Madame Rand Michaux, was formerly an American girl from New York. For 14 years she has been married to a French businessman and lives in Paris.

"Marriage between American girls and Frenchmen can be very successful. Phyllis Michaux told me in her elegant French-style home in Paris.

"But, besides the language problem, there are many snags American women are bound to run into when marrying into a French family and living in France."

The club is only a few months old but already has 51 members with almost an equal number of American and Canadian-born women married to Frenchmen on the waiting list.

"Our problems," Madame Michaux explained, "are the same as those of many people today who had lost their roots. Most women in our group feel somewhat uprooted. We are no longer 100 per cent American, but not quite French either. Also there is the problem of having 'French' children into whom we also would like to implant respect for and loyalty to our own native country."

Most of the American wives of Frenchmen have kept their American nationality. They could have become French through their marriage but, by law, could not have a dual nationality. On the other hand, the children of such mixed couples are permitted to have a dual nationality until they are 21, at which age for military service, reasons they have to make a definite choice.

On the tricky subject of differences between American and French husbands, Madame Michaux has a logical and sound point of view.

"It is not so much a difference of nationalities, but more a difference between the Anglo-Saxon and the Latin ideologies, education, attitude to women and in some cases religion."

"The Latin treats his wife more like a child whom he has to protect. American women wanted and got more independence, but in doing so lost part of the protection," Madame Michaux explained.

She also found that an American husband will show off his status by his home and its neighborhood and his car. The Frenchman on the other hand likes to show his position through his wife. This American woman married to a Frenchman found that while back home women may first get a nice house and a washing machine, a French husband will probably give his wife jewelry and a fur coat first and things for the home later.

In a formal portrait taken after their recent wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kallrath. The bride is the former Miss Betty Bone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bone, Burnside

Road West, and the groom, the son of Mrs. A. Kallrath of Germany. They were wed in Queen of Peace Church, and now live at 854 Phoenix Street. —(F. W. Barnes photo.)

Search-for-Youth Fads Attacked by Surgeon

By BEVERLY DEYETTE

Face peeling, technically known as chemosurgery, is the process whereby a solution of carbolic acid is applied to the face to remove the top layers of skin.

"You'll get immediate good effects due to swelling," admitted Dr. Pickering. However, he warned strongly against the more lasting effects.

Side effects may include serious burns, very common to thin-skinned blondes, or even kidney trouble. Only in isolated cases has face peeling been successful, said Dr. Pickering.

The surgeon said there is nothing new about face peeling. "It's 30 or 40 years old," he said. "Just one of those old fads that keep coming back."

He noted that one institution that was among the first to publicize the method has just been closed by the state of Massachusetts for illegal procedures.

Dr. Pickering said the California Society of Plastic Surgeons has commissioned two members to do research on chemosurgery, working on volunteers.

"We'll know considerably more in a year," he said. But he does not expect face peeling to be practised by society members in this state "for two or three years if ever."

Warning against indiscriminate practice of face peeling by inexperienced operators, Dr. Pickering emphasized, "There's no easy way to get wrinkles and folds from aging skin."

He said the society is currently investigating use of radioactive materials in removal of age lines and that researchers are now experimenting on animals.

At this time, said Dr. Pickering, face lifting is still the only satisfactory method. Of this type of cosmetic surgery he said, "It's moderately effective, but not perfect."

"Middle-aged women come in and want to be 16. It cannot be done," he warned. "We really don't stop the clock. We just set it back."

He described face lifting as a "very serious" step, not a "circus procedure." Generally, he recommends "one to a customer," but has performed seven face lifts on one of his patients.

"You take two inches of skin on," said Dr. Pickering. "In five years you have two to take out again, whereas you would have had four. The aging process continues, but it is not as marked as it would be without surgery."

Dr. Pickering said a wire-brush method for sanding off top layers of skin is "very satisfactory if you will accept less than perfection."

He has used this method with success in combination with face lifting. The face lifting removes skin folds and the wire-brushing then erases superficial face lines.

He also disapproves of most facial massage machines. "They beat you to a jelly and then swell you up."

As for these facial callisthenics, Dr. Pickering says they won't hurt, but they certainly won't help.

"You look like the devil doing them in the mirror," he said. "And it does no good. If it did, you'd have a neck as big as a wrestler's."

Once a double chin appears, he warns, nothing short of a facelift will remove it. It cannot be done locally and usually requires a hospitalization of about two days.

Chin straps? "They'll just keep you warm," says Dr. Pickering.

Newlyweds Plan Australian Trip

Miss Betty, Norine Warren and Mr. Norman James Henson, who were married recently in Metropolitan United Church, will be leaving in January for an extended tour of Australia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren, Lansdowne Road, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Henson, Runnymede Place. Rev. Laura Butler and Dr. F. E. H. James officiated at the ceremony.

Four tiers of bounces made the skirt of the bride's gown very bouffant. The dress was styled with lily-point sleeves, pearl and sequin bodices. A seed pearl corsage held the illusion veil and she carried pink rapture roses and feathered white chrysanthemums. As something old, she wore her maternal grandmother's ruby engagement ring. Her father gave her in marriage.

Maid of honor, Miss Joan Hopper chose pastel pink nylon with draped neckline in chiffon and matching cummerbund. Feathered pink carnations in her corsage matched her crescent cascade bouquet. Bridesmaids Miss Colleen Reid and Miss Rena Stofor chose similar gowns in turquoise shade. Junior bridesmaid Miss Irene Henson, sister of the groom, wore sunshine yellow. All attendants wore the bride's gift of a gold pendant with a cultured pearl centred in a treble clef motif.

Groomsmen were Mr. Kenneth Henson, ushers were Mr. Henry (Bud) Dovey, Mr. Fred Severson, and Mr. Raymond Warren, brother of the bride.

Two hundred guests attended the wedding reception where organ music was provided by Mr. Reginald Stone. Giant white chrysanthemums and cedar boughs decorated the hall.

For going away the new Mrs. Henson changed into a royal

Tension Drops After Scare At Berlin Wall

BERLIN (UPI)—Combat-ready U.S. and East German Communist troops pulled back yesterday from Berlin border positions only 15 yards apart as the Communists finished a job of narrowing the remaining gaps in their anti-refugee wall.

The withdrawal, easing tension on the East-West city border, came shortly after the U.S. army sent a new 1,500-man American battle group to Berlin in defiance of Soviet warnings.

NO DIFFICULTY

While the battle group moved out from West Germany with 175 vehicles, an advance group from the unit it is to replace in West Berlin rolled along the 110-mile highway in the other direction. It passed through Soviet checkpoints without difficulty.

CONVOYS DENOUNCED

The Soviets and the East German communists have denounced the U.S. autobahn convoys as provocative and warned they could have "serious consequences."

The East German troops withdrew after workmen they had been protecting completed the narrowing of vehicle lanes at the Friedrichstrasse crossing. Later a platoon of U.S. troops that had been rushed in, also withdrew.

Ghost-Scoffers Duck Flying Chairs

MENA, Ark. (AP) — It's going to take more than ghosts to run farmer C. E. Shinn off the land he's occupied for 46 years.

Shinn, 72, his wife and their grandson moved out of their five-room house Saturday night for a rest after the annies of a mischievous "ghost" left them sleepless. They moved back in Sunday and Shinn said he was going to stay.

"We just don't believe in ghosts," he said. "When something is done, humans have to do it."

For more than a year, something has been bothering the Shinn family. They say: The family Bible floats through the living room; furniture is suddenly overturned; chairs fly from the kitchen into the living room; two figurines were smashed against the back of Shinn's head. Charles Elbert Shaffer, 15, the grandson who lives with the elderly couple, says the eggs have been jerked off his bed in the middle of the night — when there apparently was no one else in the room.

Saturday night, the Shinn family went to stay with relatives and Sheriff Bruce Scoggins took three officers and four reporters to spend the night in the house. They neither saw nor heard anything out of the ordinary.

Price-Rig Lawsuits Could Total Billions

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty-four utility companies across the United States filed suits which could amount to billions of dollars in federal court yesterday against 21 manufacturers of electrical equipment, contending they have been over-charged because of price-rigging.

Chief among the defendants named were General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and Allis-Chalmers.

Church Rally Urges Freedom of Religion

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The World Council of Churches called on governments of all nations yesterday to provide their citizens with unrestricted freedom of religion, thought and conscience.

A firm resolution adopted by the third general assembly here said the council regards the right of religious liberty "as fundamental for men everywhere."

"Attempts by legal enactment or by pressure of social custom to coerce or eliminate faith are violations of the fundamental ways of God with men," the resolution stated.

The resolution was approved by a show of hands of delegates representing 198 Christian churches from 85 nations throughout the world.

There were no objections from delegates from Russia and other Communist countries. A number of delegates belong to the Russian Orthodox church, which was admitted to the council at the current assembly.

Europeans Run Wild In Constantine Riot

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI) — A mob of 2,000 Europeans rioted in the streets of Constantine yesterday after memorial services for a young Frenchman killed by police while trying to escape arrest.

The rioters carried banners and flags of the outlawed extremist Secret Army Organization. They hurled Molotov cocktails, burned cars, smashed store windows and roughed up Moslems until dispersed by strong police forces.

Two Moslems were injured when their car was set on fire. A number of shots were heard through downtown Constantine.

All European-owned shops obeyed the call for a two-hour strike in memory of Pierre Bohn, posthumously proclaimed a "hero of the French Algeria cause" by the extremist organization.

West Tries To Cement United Front

PARIS (UPI)—The Western alliance begins an all-out drive this week to patch up a united front against the Communists on the explosive Berlin crisis.

The United States and her allies must try first to agree on whether to offer to negotiate with the Soviet Union and then on a common stand for any Berlin peace talks.

The chief problem remains French President Charles de Gaulle's refusal to sit down with the Russians now. British Prime Minister Macmillan apparently failed to persuade him to change his mind in their "little summit" meeting in London 10 days ago. West German Chancellor Adenauer is scheduled to try Saturday.

Vessel for Arctic Ready by Spring

OTTAWA (CP)—The mines and technical surveys department announced yesterday it has awarded a $135,000 contract for construction of a ship specially designed for hydrographic work in the Arctic.

The 90-foot steel-hulled ship will be built by Star Shipyards Ltd. of New Westminster, and is due for completion early in 1962.

It will be constructed so it can remain in the Arctic for four-year periods without major overhaul.

The ship will be named Richardson after Sir John Richardson, who explored northwestern Canadian waters in 1826. The Richardson will be based at Tuktoyaktuk during winter months and will operate in the area of the Amundsen Gulf and the Dolphin and Union Straits in the summer.

Addition of the Richardson will bring to nine the number of vessels operated by the Canadian Hydrographic Service.

Market Boon To B.C.?

VANCOUVER (CP)—A senior British trade commissioner said here the European Common Market may prove a boon to B.C.

Kenneth McGregor said lumber sales in Europe had already climbed because of increased buying power.

Mr. McGregor, in B.C. to discuss trade with businessmen, is due in Victoria today. He is economic adviser to the British high commissioner in Ottawa.

John D Promises End of Race Bias

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker Monday recalled his boyhood years on the Prairie frontier and pledged himself anew to the complete eradication of racial discrimination in Canada.

He told a conference of editors and foreign-language rights covering both federal and provincial fields of jurisdiction.

He said there still is discrimination in Canada which should be obliterated. Titles to some pieces of land were restricted against some racial or religious groups; some hotels and other public places restricted their clientele; some clubs refused membership to some groups.

When Canada secures the power to amend its own constitution, he said, the first amendment he would propose would write into it a Bill of Rights covering both federal and provincial fields of jurisdiction.

Prosperity 'Will Be Even Better'

WINDSOR, N.S. (UPI)—Canada is now "very much on the high road to great prosperity," federal Public Works Minister David Walker said Monday.

Mr. Walker told a political meeting when the Conservative government came into power in 1957, "we inherited a mess."

"Canada's government had by 1957, after 23 years, grown to a halt," he said. Despite a continental recession, Canada emerged in much better shape than the U.S., Mr. Walker said, and "is now on the high road to great prosperity."

New Non-Nuclear Blast May Be Even Bigger

CALGARY (CP)—The federal Suffield research station near Medicine Hat may set off a TNT explosion larger than the 100-ton blast detonated in August.

A. M. Penne, chief superintendent of the Defence Research Board range, said scientists will gather at the station next March to plan more experiments in the light of data gathered from this year's explosion.

Information obtained from the blast could lead to safer shelters in time of war. The August explosion was the largest, unconfined, non-nuclear blast in history.

U.S. Paper Tells Udall:

Stop Meddling Over Columbia

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Washington Post, which strongly supports the Kennedy administration, accuses Interior Secretary Stewart Udall of interfering in the Canadian domestic quarrel over the Columbia River power treaty.

"Ratification of the Columbia River treaty is not likely to be hastened by any interference by American officials in the Canadian controversy over the disposition of Canada's share of the power to be generated," the Post says in an editorial.

CANADIAN ROW

"On the contrary, United States interference in a strictly Canadian row might even put the treaty in jeopardy."

The Post notes Udall denied the charge of Justice Minister Fulton the interior secretary was supporting Premier Bennett in an attempt to pressure the Canadian government to approve the export of power to the United States.

POST SUGGESTS

But the Post suggests Udall's statement he would have nothing to do with the B.C.-Canadian government dispute was nothing more than "a pull-back from his previous attitude."

Nurse Saves Indian Girl Five Times

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—A government nurse breathed life into a sick Indian girl on a mercy train bringing the patient to hospital yesterday.

Alice Dorian, 15, went into convulsions and stopped breathing five times on the rescue trip through the northern Manitoba bush during the night.

IN CABOOSE

But she was brought around by Mrs. Betty Macdonald who applied mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration in the train caboose.

The Dorian girl was reported to be resting comfortably yesterday in hospital. The mercy train arrived here at 2 a.m.

The girl was brought in from Thicket Portage, a tiny railway community 220 miles north of here, on two CNR trains.

The Dorian girl was picked up in Thicket Portage late Sunday night by a freight train which took the girl to Wabowden. It was met there by a special train.

HEALTH NURSE

Mrs. Macdonald is a government services health nurse from Wabowden.

The faster special train had been dispatched earlier from The Pas, 314 miles northwest of Winnipeg, to make the rendezvous.

A blizzard prevented a plane from picking the girl up and a plan to take the girl to Thompson, Man., by car was cancelled because of snowdrifts along the railway right-of-way.

and 15th, for example, are always a Monday. The 28th is always a Sunday, the 17th a Wednesday and so on.

Stable months—The month, like the year, always starts on a Monday and ends on the 30th, except for December which has 35 days.

ADDED TO END
New names—Two days with new names are added to the end of every month, both entirely separate from the standard four weeks. "Newday" and "Uniday" therefore form a transition period from each month to the next.

Bonus holiday—Uniday which is always the 29th, is an automatic universal holiday. Since it follows Saturday and Sunday, it creates a three-day weekend once a month.

Mr. Freedman says he's convinced he has the answer to dissatisfaction with the Gregorian calendar which, he contends, creates confusion and inefficiency, resulting in billions of dollars of economic waste.

The 42-year-old inventor, who grew up in Sioux Lookout, Ont., has been involved with this sort of thing for years.

every right to adhere to its policy. Any efforts on this side of the border to support the Bennett cause, by way of hastening action on the treaty, are more likely to explode a stick of dynamite beneath it," the Post says.

Reds Ready To Discuss Mindszenty

BUDAPEST (AP)—Deputy Premier Gyula Kallai said yesterday the Hungarian government is ready to negotiate a settlement of the Cardinal Mindszenty issue to improve relations with the United States.

Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, 69, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, has been in the U.S. Legation since he sought and was given refuge after Russian tanks crushed Hungary's anti-Soviet uprisings in 1956.

Police cars wait outside the legation day and night ready to arrest the cardinal if he leaves the building.

The cardinal was serving a life sentence for anti-state activity when he was released by Hungary's rebels. He immediately called for Western support for the uprising and there were reports he might become premier. Then the revolt died.

Kallai said Hungary would refuse to discuss Cardinal Mindszenty as a separate issue but only within the framework of negotiations aimed at improving relations.

Oil Quotas To Remain - Kennedy

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy has rejected the pleas of oil protectionists and has decided not to disturb present oil import quotas at least for another half-year.

Turning aside a recommendation from Interior Secretary Stewart Udall for reductions in import quotas, Kennedy announced during the weekend that his emergency planning office will review the situation and prepare a new report to be completed by mid-1962.

Meanwhile, there will be no change in the American quota system.

Let's Shun Christmas Lutheran Tells Church

NEW YORK (AP)—A Lutheran says churches should ignore Christmas.

Rev. Dr. Edgar S. Brown, director of worship for the United Lutheran Church in America, has this to say in an article appearing in The Lutheran, official weekly paper of the church:

"Christmas, the annual pious salute in the direction of religion, is now the property of the business world, and I say it's high time that the church said in unmistakably clear words that it intends to divorce itself from the whole mess."

"Let the churches simply ignore the 25th of December the way most of them pass by Ascension Day."

"Then everyone could have a Merry Christmas without having to go to church, and the church wouldn't have to sit like a good-up female wringing her hands."

Puzzling Fruit Trees

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Quite a few of the letters that land on my desk throughout the year are concerned with the poor performance of fruit trees—trees which, while growing strongly and apparently in a healthy condition, just never seem to bear any fruit. There are several reasons which could account for this puzzling behavior and one factor which should be investigated is the local climate.

By local climate, I don't mean the general weather conditions in and around Victoria—I mean the localized conditions at the spot where the tree stands—the microclimate, as experts call it. And this can vary tremendously in a matter of yards.

For instance, there are low-lying spots here and there, both in Greater Victoria and up-island, where late spring frosts during the fruit-blossom period are almost the general rule. I know of one such spot near View Royal school and another due south of Mount Douglas park. Any really cold air drains naturally into these frost pockets, for cold air seeks its own level, flowing just like water.

On the other hand, there are exposed positions high on a hill which may be swept by those icy winds from the northeast which so often strike us in the spring. Even when such winds are not cold enough to injure fruit blossom, they can keep the pollinating insects from doing their job and the result is the same—no fruit.

The ideal site, to my mind, is a spot about halfway down a gentle slope to the south. But fruit can be grown under conditions far from ideal and sometimes a shift of a few yards one way or another will bring the tree under the lee of a building or a hedge, enough to break the full force of the wind.

Lack of blossom, in contrast with loss of blossom, is sometimes due to too much vigor. Seedling trees grown from pips will almost always make too much wood growth at the expense of blossom and come into bearing very much later in life than trees which have been grafted on suitable roots.

Quite frequently, I find the trouble is due to too-deep planting. Even though the tree may be grafted on vigor-restraining roots, the upper part of the tree has put forth roots of its own, thereby short-circuiting the effect of the grafted roots. This can be seen by digging around the bole of the tree to expose the bulge of the graft union. If roots are found emerging from above the graft, they should be cut away and enough soil removed to keep them from starting again.

Once a fruit tree has passed through childhood and adolescence and reaches blooming age, each blossom must be pollinated before any fruit can set. Some kinds need no "husband" and can set their own fruits unaided, while others require a mate—not just any old mate, but one which has a special affinity for the shy-fruited specimen.

This business of pollination is a highly complex matter and, unless the right combination of trees is planted in the first place, they may live out their whole lives in a state of single barrenness. An excellent guide listing compatible varieties of apples, pears, plums and cherries is available free of charge from the Dominion Experimental Station, called "Pollination Studies in Tree Fruits" by E. R. Hall.

Abdication Recalled

King's Romance Shook U.K.

By ALLAN KENT
Telegram News Service

Dowagers denounced it as disgraceful.

Young women and the working girls thought it terribly romantic and tragic.

This was the Abdication, one of the news stories of the century, an unthinkable event that suddenly was fact.

This was 25 years ago today.

On Dec. 10, 1936, a harassed and half-sick Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin told Britain's House of Commons that Edward VIII had decided to abdicate.

On Dec. 11, the King gave royal assent to the Bill of Abdication, in which he relinquished the throne to his younger brother.

An that same evening, in a poignant broadcast from Windsor Castle, the abdication King told his hundreds of millions of subjects that he was quitting because he couldn't carry on in the job "without the help and support of the woman I love."

Probably in all history, no man has been quite as romantic a figure as Edward VIII.

Though he had been King since the previous January, to the world he was still the handsome, high-spirited, Prince of Wales—a Prince Charming.

And the woman he loved was the American divorcee, variously known as Mrs. Ernest Simpson,

Wallis Warfield Simpson, "Wally" or "Simply" "that Simpson woman."

She was 40 years old at the time, and Edward was two years older.

Few of the King's subjects knew anything about the romance until the lid blew off the whole affair.

Early in 1936, some Canadian newspapers printed stories about Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simpson, referring to them both as friends of the King.

On Oct. 20 The Toronto Telegram carried a story that 60 of Toronto's most prominent citizens had been asked whether newspapers should or should not carry news about the King's friendship with Mrs. Simpson.

(The 60 voted 59 to 1 against any publicity—and their preferences were reported.)

In Britain the press and news agencies made a gentleman's agreement to carry no news about the Royal affair.

For months they sat on one of the biggest news stories of the century.

But the steam was building up.

Not Fleet Street, but the provincial press—Manchester, Nottingham, Leeds—finally broke the self-imposed pact of silence on Dec. 2.

The Bishop of Bradford on Dec. 1, complained that many churchmen regretted that the King, as head of the Church of England, did not "give more positive signs" that he realized he—like everyone else—"needs the Grace of God."

The provincial press "interpreted" the bishop's speech as a roundabout way of criticizing the King's personal life, including (and chiefly) the Mrs. Simpson affair.

Next day all the newspapers had the story—Baldwin's frantic efforts to call off the romantic affair; the King's suggestion that the U.S. divorcee need not be Queen but only the King's consort—the Archbishop of Canterbury's implacable stand against marriage of any kind with a divorced woman.

To the man-in-the-street in Britain, utterly unprepared for any of this, the whole thing was astounding.

Indeed, most people did not realize an abdication was pending when, within eight days of the first news of it, it was a fait accompli and they had a new King, George VI.

Edward went to Austria, and Mrs. Simpson to Cannes. They stayed apart until her divorce was well and truly absolute—in fact until after May 12, 1937, when George VI was crowned.

Fortunately for the continuation of monarchy, George VI and Elizabeth were the embodiment of domestic tranquility and dedication to constitutional monarchy.

And when George VI died and his daughter Elizabeth II took the Throne, monarchy in England was strong.

But even today—25 years after the incredible had happened and a king was forced off his throne—the fondness of a people for the prince who let them down still lingers.

Williams Rewrites Play

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Tennessee Williams has been in Chicago, rewriting some of his "Night of the Iguana" play. Bette Davis says, far from being unhappy over the length of her role as compared to Margaret Leighton's: "I asked Tennessee for the part." From a friend's report, Williams has a lot of rewriting to do before the play hits Broadway.

New star Warren Beatty, having completed "All Fall Down," says he will not be doing "Celebration." But he does want to star in Jerry Wald's version of "Ulysses," to be made in author James Joyce's Ireland in the spring.

When Jackie Gleason loses 15 pounds, it's like some men losing eight ounces. Jack, without dieting, lost 15 pounds playing golf last weekend. He is currently toiling with Tony Quinn and Mickey Rooney in "Regulum for a Heavyweight." And he's still overheavyweight.

A visit in New York to the Rudy Vallee-Robert Morse musical hit, "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," was a must. A glorious, funny show. I hadn't met young Mr. Morse, but sought him out to congratulate him. Then, "Will it be a movie?" I asked. "It had better be," said the dimpled Robert, crossing his fingers.

Zsa Zsa Gabor says she is not going to marry millionaire Bob Stralle. "How can I?" she asks, "he's a married man."

Work to Start Soon On Road to Kelsey Bay

Work will begin this winter on a $3,000,000 reconstruction project for the 30-mile stretch of Island Highway between Campbell River and Kelsey Bay. Highway Minister Gagliardi said yesterday.

Tenders for the work were called last week. The bids for the two sections of the highway will be opened Dec. 13 and Dec. 20.

Reconstruction of the highway is part of the government's plans to open up access to the northern part of the Island.

Premier Bennett has called upon private enterprise to establish a ferry service between Kelsey Bay and upland points such as Port Hardy.

Long-range planning calls for a road to be built eventually to the northern tip of Vancouver Island.

The government had originally estimated the cost of the reconstruction of the Campbell River-Kelsey Bay section at $1,500,000 but a top government official said yesterday: "It will be closer to $3,000,000."

All Candidates Meet Before Saanich Vote

Third and final all-candidates' meeting for Saanich before the municipal election will be held at Royal Oak High School at 8 p.m. today under the sponsorship of the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association. After the meeting, a stewardship report will be given by sitting councillors and reeve.

"Now that's what I call a good-lookin' woman!"

Demolish Booths City Urged

"Unsanitary and unsightly" concession buildings at Elk Lake should be demolished as soon as possible, city parks committee decided yesterday.

Decision came after the committee considered a report from Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee suggesting the action.

Along with the report, the Victoria-Saanich committee sent a copy of a report by health officials, branding the concessions as unsanitary.

City parks administrator Herbert Warren told the committee that demolition will have to wait until council prepares its new budget early next year.

'Sing Along' Show

Loaded with Talent Short of Audience

By BERT BINNY
An audience of about 600, including Mayor and Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, was present at the Royal Theatre Sunday afternoon to "Sing Along with the Stars."

This show, featuring the band of HMCS Naden, seven Victoria singing stars, an accomplished and indefatigable accompanist in Al Smith and emcee Al Collins, was staged by the Victoria Cosmopolitan Club in aid of its Christmas "Toys for Tots" fund.

FULL OF VALUE

Because the show was packed with talent and full of entertainment value, the audience was numerically disappointing. Vocally, however, it did nicely.

It gave such items as "You Are My Sunshine," "My Buddy," "Moonlight and Roses" and "If You Were the Only Girl in the World" full and enthusiastic treatment.

The Naden band, always a show in itself, played the "Montmartre March," selections from "Sound of Music" and the "March of the Slaves Children" from "The King and I." And, in the complete Christmas spirit, it also provided "Christmas Fantasy," "Ring Those Christmas Bells" and Leroy Anderson's well-known "Sleighride."

Under the direction of Commissioner Officer T. W. Milner, these items, like every performance by the navy band, were a thorough joy to hear.

"MY FAIR LADY"
There was plenty of variation in the numbers offered by the singing stars; all the way from "O Sole Mio" through "My Fair Lady" and "The Wizard of Oz" to "Christopher Robin."

The audience enjoyed Margaret Thomson Deane with selections from "My Fair Lady," Mimi Robertson with "Vienna, City of My Dreams" and "Christopher Robin," and John Bray with "I Love Life" and "Wandering Player."

HILLSIDE AND QUADRA

Drag Race, Then Wild Chase Young Driver Loses Licence

A young truck driver was barred from driving anywhere in Canada for two years and fined $250 when he pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to a charge of criminal negligence.

Leslie Jones, 23, of 2711 Jacklin, Langford, was arrested early Saturday following a high speed car chase that ended at Quadra and San Marino when his car went out of control, sheared off a power pole and flipped on its back.

Three passengers required hospital treatment for minor injuries.

A police officer told the court the chase started when he spotted two cars "drag racing" north on Douglas from the Roundabout. He estimated the speed of the two cars at 80 miles an hour.

One car stopped when the police car sounded its siren. The other, driven by Jones, swerved onto Discovery in an attempt to outrun the police.

The car turned north on Quadra and headed toward Saanich at more than 80 miles an hour.

Jones failed in his bid to retain his licence for business purposes only when Magistrate William Ostler noted his driving record showed five previous convictions.

But the whole recital and commentary was thoroughly enjoyed by an audience which filled the Sir William Wallace room at Holyrood House. Mr. Roubakine plays with supreme artistry and his remarks on the composers, "to create the climate" of the compositions played, were always interesting.

Sponsor of the recital was the Victoria chapter of the Alumni, Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

Says Boris Roubakine

Beethoven Roared But Bach Tiptoed

By BERT BINNY

If composer Johann Sebastian Bach had been present at the Bach-Beethoven recital and commentary given last night by Boris Roubakine, he might have left somewhat deflated.

The recital, noted Mr. Roubakine, was originally intended as pure Beethoven. Bach—specifically his "English Suite" in A minor—was added as "a springboard" from which to launch out into Beethoven.

AT THE START
Bach, added the pianist, was prone to say all he had to say musically at the start of his works while Beethoven remained interesting throughout.

Mr. Roubakine left the impression that, while Beethoven left thunderous footfalls in the corridors of musical time, Bach was there in his stocking feet.

But the whole recital and commentary was thoroughly enjoyed by an audience which filled the Sir William Wallace room at Holyrood House. Mr. Roubakine plays with supreme artistry and his remarks on the composers, "to create the climate" of the compositions played, were always interesting.

Sponsor of the recital was the Victoria chapter of the Alumni, Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

ROBERT BONNER

Bonner Orders Study Into Hunting Deaths

Attorney General Robert Bonner has ordered his department to study recommendations made by coroners' juries probing hunting deaths in B.C. this year.

He said some way had to be found "to stop hunters from hunting each other."

Mr. Bonner deviated comment on a recommendation made by an Alberta jury recently that all hunters who kill anybody should be charged.

The number of accidents so far is a matter of legitimate concern, he said.

Fund 'Part of Christmas'

With Christmas less than three weeks away, Colonist stenographers are already preparing the cheques which will comprise this year's 500 Fund gift.

So far, of course, the cheques remain blank.

The final, all important figure that is entered on them depends upon what you give between now and Christmas.

While the fund is raising the $3,000 mark, Victorians are reminded that the final total must be added into 500 equal pieces for distribution to the city's needy.

Speaking to a group of 250 soldiers and survival course trainees yesterday who had donated more than $100 to the fund, Colonel editor-in-chief R. J. Bower explained the purpose and spirit which must guide the 500 Fund.

CIVIL WAR DECLARED IN KOOTENAYS--JUDGE

'Little People' Forced Into Life of Terrorism

NELSON (CP)—A white-haired Son of Freedom Doukhobor, sentenced Monday to five years' prison for unlawful possession of explosives, says "top people" among his sect force the "little people" into acts of violence.

"The top people gather money and have a good time while the poor

bomb and burn," said confessed terrorist Mike Bayoff, 51.

Bayoff said he was "a little kid" in a highly-organized crime gang which gave orders for outrages on wordless signals.

He said he turned his back on a lifetime of terrorism to confess his own role and implicate alleged associates because he could no longer live with himself if he continued to hide his and any other Freedomite's evil.

More than 40 suspected terrorists have been arrested since Bayoff made his confession Nov. 2 and appealed to them to give themselves up. County Court Judge Eric Dawson, who sentenced him Monday, said he had given great assistance to police.

NELSON (CP)—Sons of Freedom Doukhobor terrorists have declared civil war on the peaceful Kootenay district of British Columbia, a county court judge said Monday.

Judge Eric Dawson made the remark in sentencing Mike Bayoff, 51, of Wynndel, to five years in prison for unlawful possession of explosives.

POTENTIAL KILLERS

He called the Freedomite terrorists potential killers.

Judge Dawson said in a 15-minute statement that Bayoff had expressed remorse for his actions and had proved his sincerity by his great assistance to police. But he said a sentence had to be imposed that would serve as a deterrent to those who were engaged in violence with him.

ATTITUDES CONTINUED

Referring to weekend fires in the nearby community of Glade, the judge said that on the eve of Bayoff's sentencing, terrorists had continued their diabolical attacks against human life.

After the judge left the courtroom some of the Freedomite spectators, most of them women, said: "If he is guilty, so are we."

Bayoff turned to them and said: "Go home, you pigs."

Before the judge began his statement, Bayoff said:

"From now on I'd like to see these people behind me (in the gallery) obey the law and live in peace. They have turned into pigs. Why don't they stay home and clean the snow away from their pig pens?"

Judge Dawson said Bayoff's conduct had been searched "and you show that you are sincere in your remorse—but your activities go back a very long time."

"I would be remiss if I passed sentence without considering the interests of this community," he said. It has been plagued for many years by acts of terror.

MANY CONFESS
"It has reached the point where a small group has declared war on this community of peaceful citizens."

"It is impossible for me to overlook the many, many years that this terror from the group associated with you, many of whom have confessed their crimes."

India Moving Forces Against Triple Threat

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—

Indian forces have been deployed for major manoeuvres near disputed border areas with Communist China, Pakistan and Portugal, authoritative sources disclosed Monday night.

The sources said the manoeuvres involved large-scale combined exercises of the army, navy and air force.

The deployment came amid growing demands for firm action to settle the government's dispute with Portugal over the tiny enclave of Goa and with Communist China over its occupation of vast areas along India's northeast frontier.

The sources said the government has no plans for immediate military action against Portugal but "precautionary measures" were being taken.

POLICE SENT

Reliable sources earlier said the army had taken over trains to move personnel. The action followed a reported buildup of Portuguese forces along the enclave's 188-mile border with India.

India border police also have been dispatched to the frontier area near Daman, another of the four Portuguese enclaves on India's west coast.

TROOPS LAND

According to reporters here, 700 more Portuguese troops landed in Goa Sunday, placing the 1,300-square-mile territory on a virtual war footing.

NEW PROTESTS

The long-standing border dispute with Communist China touched off new protests Monday in India's legislature.

The protests centred on new Chinese incursions into the Aksaichin Plateau in the Ladakh area of Kashmir.

Even Communist legislators joined in demanding that China withdraw from the 12,000 square miles of border territory it has "illegally occupied" along India's northeast frontier.

Court Full of Smiths Accuses Sailor Smith

Sailor Jerry Smith, charged with theft of a car belonging to Edith Louise Smith, is no relation of the complainant, prosecutor Angus Smith told the court.

Sailor Smith, of HMCS New Glasgow,

was remanded to Friday for a probation report and sentence.

Const. Smith told the court the sailor took the stolen car from where it was parked on View Street Dec. 2, drove back to his ship, where he switched plates, then headed up-island.

Ticketed by RCMP in Duncan when he failed to produce a registration slip, he later surrendered to city police.

Communist Castro Dealt Double Blow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's avowed communist regime was dealt a double blow yesterday.

President Kennedy extended the U.S. ban on Cuban sugar imports — a move that could cost Castro $80,000,000 — and the 21-nation Organization of American States took what could be the first step toward imposing sanctions on Cuba.

BIG CROP HIT

The president continued through next June 30 the sugar import ban that had been scheduled to expire Dec. 31. His order meant that Castro again would have to sell elsewhere the big Cuban crop, second largest in Cuba's history.

Several hours later, the OAS council approved 14-2 a Colombian proposal calling for a foreign ministers conference on Jan. 10 to consider the Communist threat posed by Cuba against other nations of the western hemisphere.

Supporting the Colombian proposal, U.S. Ambassador James Morrison pointed to Castro's public declaration of his "Marxist-Leninist" beliefs in a Havana speech Saturday.

Motorist Convicted

VERNON (CP)—An assize court jury yesterday convicted James Robert Clough, 21, of Westbank on a criminal negligence charge in the Sept. 3 death of Joseph Tomas, also of Westbank. (See earlier story on page 16.)

Canada Could Join Says Ottawa Official

Special to the Colonist

OTTAWA—Finance Minister Fleming's contention Canada could not join the European Common Market even if she wanted to was contradicted yesterday by the chairman of the federal government appointed productivity council.

George De Young, president of Atlas Steels of Welland, Ont., and chairman of the government's productivity council, established this year to stimulate production and employment, told the Economic Club of Canada "could of join it."

But they said de Gaulle maintained that Allied offers of negotiations at this time would risk a weakening of the Western position.

They said de Gaulle believes standing pat already has caused the Russians to withdraw their original threat to sign a peace treaty with the East Germans before the end of the year.

Mac's Bermuda Meeting Aimed at United Stand

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan will press for a united Western position on Berlin negotiations when he meets President Kennedy in Bermuda, diplomatic observers said Monday.

Sources in Paris said Macmillan put a forcible case for new overtures to Russia in Berlin in his meeting with President de Gaulle of France 10 days ago.

But they said de Gaulle maintained that Allied offers of negotiations at this time would risk a weakening of the Western position.

They said de Gaulle believes standing pat already has caused the Russians to withdraw their original threat to sign a peace treaty with the East Germans before the end of the year.

ROSSLAKE HARBOR, Ireland (AP)—A raging storm hurled nine sailors from a lifeboat into seas off western Ireland Monday night and washed three other men off a rescue ship.

Ships, planes and small craft fanned out in search of the 12 missing men.

Two Hunters Lost Child Shoots Man

PORT ALBERNI — Search parties in the Alberni Valley Monday found three of five hunters reported missing south of here.

Search officials said all three appeared to be in good condition.

Doctors to Check Hunters for Sight

CAMPBELL RIVER — A "vision team" from the Upper Island Optometric Association will screen members of Vancouver Island hunting clubs in the Elks Hall here next Monday for eye defects.

Screening of Campbell River and Sayward fish and game

Found were Leon Clements, who was hunting alone; John Hogweide and a man identified only as McBurns. Still missing were Jack Faulkner and Leo Strika, believed hunting in the Mineral Hill area.

Earlier, a 70-year-old man picking Christmas groceries was killed 14 miles south of Courtenay Sunday by an 11-year-old hunter who mistook him for a deer.

KILLED INSTANTLY

Murdoch McDonald, of Buckley Bay, a part-time millworker, was killed instantly by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun.

The accident happened about one mile west of Buckley Bay in a second-growth forest reached by logging roads.

FOURTH FATALITY

It was the fourth hunting fatality this season on Vancouver Island. Others were at Happy Valley and in the Alberni area.

RCMP said the victim was picking salad and other greens for Christmas use when he was mistaken for a deer and fired at by the boy. No charge was laid.

WITH FATHER

The unidentified boy was hunting with his father and brother, all of Union Bay, about five miles north of where the tragedy occurred.

Mr. McDonald is survived by his wife, at home; three sons, Warren of Victoria, Norman and Campbell of Fanny Bay; and three daughters, Mrs. Christina Daunhauser of Colwood, Mrs. Clara Brass of North Surrey and Mrs. Leonard Morden of Saskatoon.

Chairman

All candidates in the Courtenay civic election Thursday will appear in a rally in the Legion Hall at 8 p.m. today.

MLA Dan Campbell will chair the meeting, which is sponsored by local Jaycees.

Harmac Idea

Work Cut Urged

NANAIMO — Harmac employees of MacMillan, Bisset and Powell River Ltd. concerned over unemployment in this area, have voted to reduce working hours.

Members of Local 695 of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers voted in favor of going on a 40-hour work week.

The union negotiated a 40-hour work week in 1952-53, but, because of the complexities in arranging shift work schedules, a 42-hour average week has been in effect.

Day's movements that day were traced until 2:30 p.m. when he left a Cumberland

public house. Police, quoting a witness who was not called, stated Day was denied admission to another hotel at 4:30 p.m., but police could not find if or where Day was drinking between then and when he left Cumberland for Courtenay nearly an hour later.

He was fatally injured on that drive.

BEING WITNESSED

Mr. Menzies made it clear he felt evidence was deliberately being withheld and criticized what he felt was a common practice of people being served liquor when they had more than enough.

The verdict was accidental death.

PORT ALBERNI — Trustee Albert Moul was re-elected in the rural areas of School District 70 Saturday when only 155 of the 2,535 voters turned out.

Returning officer A. F. Taylor reported 89 votes for Mr. Moul, 64 for his opponent O. Haggard, and two rejected ballots.

Unionists Support Mabel's Opponent

PARKSVILLE — Fred Bishop, opposing controversial Mayor Mabel Anderson in Alberni's civic elections Thursday, has won the support of Nanaimo, Alberni and District Labor Council.

Meeting here Sunday, the council also backed other Island candidates, discussed another trek to Victoria, worried about civil defence funds and sought better lighting for two highways.

OTHERS NAMED

Also endorsed were Charles Blair, Russell Foxcroft and George Dunbar for aldermen in Alberni; George Cole, Les Hamner and E. E. Bowen for council and Stan Wilson for school trustee in Port Alberni; Bill McGregor for Nanaimo council and Max Slater and Harry Harris for Courtenay council.

Council president Stan Parker said the trek to Victoria will be made at the beginning of the legislative session this time.

PEACE COMMITTEE

After Allister Macleod of Cedar said the $2,000,000 fall-out shelter at Nanaimo for the provincial government "will serve only as a memorial to our ignorance," the council urged a federal peace committee financed by funds now used for civil defence.

Better lighting was asked on the Stamp Road, connection between Alberni and Port Al-

Block for Aged Will Start Soon

By KLAUS MUENTER

MILL BAY — Groundwork for the $6,000,000 apartment building for aged couples, Westward Ho, on Mill Bay's waterfront will start next month, says the head of Jamieson Construction Co., A. L. Jamieson of Vancouver.

The project eventually will employ 100 workers and Mr. Jamieson says the local labor market will be given primary consideration.

Work drawings for the multi-story structure, to house 500 elderly people, are now in the process of being completed.

A private company, Westward Ho Development, will finance the building, mainly through mortgage borrowing. At the helm are Mr. Jamieson, president, and Clare Anderson, vice-president, both of Vancouver.

One of the directors, Allen Smith, is the designer and engineer of the multi-million-dollar building. Westward Ho is the first apartment house of its kind in Canada and off-cial of the group are confident this type of project will gradually spread throughout Canada.

Tenants, exclusively retired couples, will have the choice of two types of apartments—the single bed-sitting room with bath or a double unit. The former will cost $5,000 and the latter a lump sum of $20,000. In addition the monthly rent, including meals, maid service and laundry is $125.

Some of the main features available to all tenants are therapy rooms, steam baths, a swimming pool, a boating dock, a golf course and 2,000 feet of sandy beach.

RESIDENT NURSE

The staff of 100 includes a resident nurse and therapists and a doctor will be on call. Designer Smith says: "We are not, however, running a hospital for the aged. We guarantee lifetime care but applicants will be screened for basic good health."

First Woman Captures Biggest-Deer Trophy

PARKSVILLE — For the first time in the history of Parksville Fish and Game Club the trophy for the biggest deer of the season has been won by a woman.

Mias Edith Robinson, an ardent sportswoman and faithful member of the club, received the handsome Parksville Fish and Game Club perpetual trophy from president Sam Gough.

ANNUAL DINNER

Presentation was made at the annual amorgasbord dinner and party before more than 100 members and guests at the Island Hall Hotel banquet room.

A triple winner was Bill Roberts, past president of the club, who received the Alex Young Memorial Trophy for the "member of the year," the Rushton Memorial Trophy for the largest salmon caught by a club member during the annual salmon derby, and a camera awarded as an attendance prize.

In appreciation of outstanding service to the club E. A. Terrien of Coombs was presented with a life membership scroll and a cheque.

Mr. Terrien has taken charge of the preparation of salmon each year at the annual barbecue at French Creek.

City Thieves
Pull Weight

Weight was no object when thieves raided Knott's Paving Yard, 2425 Turner, during the weekend.

Police were told that a wrench weighing three tons, and an angle iron "A" frame weighing 1,000 pounds, were stolen.

City Group

Filthy
Books
Fought

City morals committee is seeking stricter control of "filthy" books easily available to children in Victoria.

A resolution to this effect is being prepared for submission to Ottawa officials.

ARTICLE COPIED

The morals committee took notice of the situation when a complaint was received from P. J. Tarr, 1137 Yates, including a typewritten copy of the Colonist article.

The committee also decided to seek the views of members of Victoria library board before submitting the resolution to city council.

ON SOME BACKS

Only one member of the board available for comment last night had knowledge of the type of paperbacks being sold on some racks.

W. C. Angus, 30 King George Terrace, said flatly some paperbacks should be banned.

FAMILY MAN

"As a family man with children of my own, there are books I would like to see off the shelves," he said.

Other members said they planned to check on the type of novel being sold.

Aldermen Won't Be Free

Wilson Launches Offensive
On 'Insidious' Bid by Smith

R. B. WILSON

... fiery attack

J. DONALD SMITH

... not invited

Vital
Issue
Seen

Mayorality candidate R. B. Wilson yesterday launched an all-out attack on his opponent, Victoria MLA J. Donald Smith, charging an "insidious attempt to infiltrate" provincial politics into city council.

"The vital issue of this whole campaign is an attempt by a member of the provincial legislature to serve two masters, by sitting in the provincial house and at the same time acting as mayor of the City of Victoria," he said.

MOST IMPORTANT

"The voters of the city of Victoria are faced with one of the most important decisions that they have had to make.

"The repercussions of how this is decided will be felt outside the confines of this immediate area.

"This is a matter of vital principle. If provincial politics enter city hall the aldermen will no longer be free men.

OVER SHOULDER

"Their deliberation would always have the shadow of provincial interests looking over their shoulders.

"I am amazed and greatly encouraged by the many manifestations of righteous anger on all sides about this insidious attempt to infiltrate the council chamber."

NOT INVITED

Mr. Wilson was speaking at a meeting of Victoria Gyr Club. Mr. Smith was not invited to address the meeting.

Mr. Wilson, aldermanic candidate William Hudson and Gordon Elworthy, who is seeking the reeve ship of Oak Bay, spoke to the meeting. A few members of the Gyr Club.

FREQUENT EVENT

"Conflict of interest happens frequently between the provincial and municipal governments," Mr. Wilson said.

"The bus service and school taxes are two outstanding examples that no man can serve two masters... The six weeks following the end of January are the most critical and time consuming period for mayor and council.

MIDNIGHT OIL

"The budget for the year is being prepared and the mayor and his council are constantly at work, burning much midnight oil in the process.

"At the very same time the provincial government is in full session and the members there are busy day and night.

"How can a mayor be in two places at the same time?"

EFFICIENT BUDGET

"How could a mayor give his time and energy to the protection of the taxpayers through the implementation of an efficient budget and yet fulfill his duties as a member of the legislature?"

"The answer, of course, is that it couldn't be done."

LOW ON TOTEM

"The likelihood would be that the city of Victoria would end up low man on the totem pole."

Mr. Wilson devoted two-thirds of his address to the attack on Mr. Smith.

For Queenie

Queenie, the Beacon Hill Park horse, is being honored with presents these days.

(City officials had week bought her a bag of carrots with $2 sent by an Oregon couple who met Queenie when they visited the park during the summer.

And yesterday another $2 bill was received from "Two Wellishers," asking that Queenie be given something special for Christmas dinner.

Murdoch Hits Back
At 'Secrets' Charge

Reeve George Murdoch yesterday lashed back at reeve speaker candidate Coun. Gordon Elworthy for charges the reeve has failed to keep the public informed on municipal affairs.

Coun. Elworthy said that if he is elected he will throw some committee hearings open to the public. He said it seems the reeve "believes in keeping the public informed only of those things he thinks it is good for them to know."

Reeve Murdoch countered it is council and not he which makes the decision to conduct business in camera.

"He (Coun. Elworthy) has been on council for three years and something he should know by now is that the reeve does not set the policy," said Reeve Murdoch.

"Policy is set by council and, if meetings are to be held in camera and a councillor moves you into committee of the whole, the motion is seconded and passed by majority, the reeve has no control over it," he said.

Other speakers will be George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, and A. DeB. McPhillips, Victoria MP.

Toy Mountain

Victoria bingo addicts last night inundated the foyer of Memorial Arena under a mountain of 3,000 toys as 8,000 people turned out for a crack at $7,000 worth of prizes.

Patrons who brought a toy for the Colonist 500 Christmas Fund were given free tickets on a draw for 10 turkeys.

After the Kinsmen Giant Bingo was over and the prizes all distributed, the toys were loaded onto Reliable Transfer trucks and hauled away to Maynard's Auction Rooms.

Later in the month, they'll be auctioned off to the highest bidder and proceeds will go to the Colonist 500 Fund.

Winner of the 1962 Ford automobile was Mrs. J. Adel Ror, 3125 Balfour.

Prizes of $150 went to J. Rughy, 408 Dallas; Mrs. V. Shaffer, 2815 Sooke Road; Mrs. A. McNah, 924 Howley, and F. M. Bell, 1030 McClure. The $100 winners were Mrs. F. Morley, 5 Erskine; R. G. Wilson, 538 Vincent; Miss P. Pye, 1609 Myrtle, and T. W. Roe, 3125 Balfour.

Woman Seeks Help

Money for Christmas
Scattered in Breeze

A capricious gust of wind ripped a woman's purse open at Fort and Douglas during yesterday's gale and scattered $70 of her Christmas pay.

Mrs. Florence Fisher, 2162 Cadboro Bay Road, said last night she will have a bleak Christmas unless the money is returned. She doesn't get paid again until Dec. 28.

"I've got a little girl to buy Christmas presents for yet," she said. "This was all the money I've got in the world until next payday."

Passerby returned cancelled cheques and Mrs. Fisher's driver's license. Two RCMP officers rounded up $12. But $70 in denominations of $10 and less was scattered by the wind.

Mrs. Fisher is hoping that anyone who found any of the bills will call her at EV 5-4032.

Hunter's Proud Story
Was Real Horse OperaPeter Bruton's
NOTEBOOK

Nature study... or what will hunters be up to next?

THE LAST BOUNDUP: A hunter wheeled his car into the government game checking station at Cache Creek and proudly informed officials: "I shot a moose."

The game people looked at the carcass of the shot animal. "A moose you say?" exploded one. "That's a horse!"

"Don't be silly," replied the hunter. "I tell you it's a moose."

"Listen," said the exasperated conservation officer, pointing to the animal's feet, "since when have they been nailing horseshoes on moose?"

SORRY FOR THE INCONVENIENCE: Here's a story from Mrs. Lyle Hagen, the well-known CCF MLA from Grand Forks-Greenwood.

A hunter shot some animal and after he had skinned it he placed the hide over a wire fence to dry out. A day or so later, when he checked, he found a couple of dozen bullet holes in the hide—the work of short-sighted marksmen who thought the animal was still alive.

A HUNTING WE WILL GO: Last year, Mrs. Mabel Hayes, of Camus, Washington, shot a moose near Bridge Lake in the Cariboo. This year she was out of luck. "But I'll be back here for a bear and a moose next year," she told B.C. conservation officers. Mrs. Hayes is 81 years old.

Biologist Charles Gulgust disclosed one city man went to Maple Bay for some duck shooting. He unloaded his car—decays, supplies, dog, and ammunition. It was only then he realized he'd forgotten to bring his gun!

Conservation officer Bob Wain reports hunting deaths are down from last year's grim total.

SIGN IN PASSING: A large notice on a property along the Sooke Road states: "Hunting Forbidden. Survivors, if any, will be prosecuted."

PASSING PARADE: A hunter in the Interior shot a moose during the weekend.

Only trouble it had been shot by someone else—and was tied to the top of a car travelling down the road.

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE: Under the B.C. Game Act, kids between the ages of 14 and 18 may be given a hunting licence if they have written permission from their parents.

"I don't see how we can help," explained Jack. "Of course you can," replied the woman. "Just send out another hen right away."

but even so must be accompanied by an adult when they go in the woods.

Such permission is very rare and seldom is anyone under the age of 13 given such a licence.

That didn't stop an 11-year-old from killing a 70-year-old man in a hunting mishap on Vancouver Island this week-end.

Seems two cock pheasants were fighting all over her front lawn in an attempt to win the hand of a hen pheasant who was an interested spectator.

ROBERT BONNER

Bonner Orders Study Into Hunting Deaths

Attorney-General Robert Bonner has ordered his department to study recommendations made by coroners' juries probing hunting deaths in B.C. this year.

He said some way had to be found "to stop hunters from hurting each other."

Mr. Bonner declined comment on a recommendation made by an Alberta jury recently that all hunters who kill anybody should be charged.

The number of accidents so far is a matter of legitimate concern, he said.

Fund 'Part of Christmas'

With Christmas less than three weeks away, Colonist stenographers are already preparing the cheques which will comprise this year's 300 Fund gift.

So far, of course, the cheques remain blank.

The final all important figure that is entered on them depends upon what you give between now and Christmas.

While the fund is nudging the $3,000 mark, Victorians are reminded that the final total must be sliced into 300 equal slices for distribution to the city's needy.

Speaking to a group of 250 soldiers and survival course trainees yesterday who had donated more than $105 to the fund, Colonist editor-in-chief R. J. Bower explained the purpose and spirit which motivates the 300 Fund.

Court Full of Smiths Accuses Sailor Smith

The Smith clan took over Victoria city police court temporarily yesterday.

Sailor Jerry Smith, charged with theft of a car belonging to Edith Louise Smith, is no relation of the complainant, prosecutor Angus Smith told the court.

Sailor Smith, of HMCS New Glasgow,

was remanded to Friday for a probation report and sentence.

Const. Smith told the court the sailor took the stolen car from where it was parked on View Street Dec. 2, drove back to his ship, where he switched plates, then headed up island.

Ticketed by RCMP in Duncan when he failed to produce a registration slip, he later surrendered to city police.

Communist Castro Dealt Double Blow

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's avowed Communist regime was dealt a double blow yesterday.

President Kennedy extended the U.S. ban on Cuban sugar imports—a move that could cost Castro $80,000,000—and the 21-nation Organization of American States took what could be the first step toward imposing sanctions on Cuba.

Big CROP HIT

The president continued through next June 30 the ban on the Bani, Building, Douglas and sugar import ban that had been scheduled to expire Dec. 31. His order meant that Castro again would have to sell elsewhere the big Cuban crop, the second largest in Cuba's history.

Several hours later, the OAS to a street.

Jump Halted By Friend

Fifteen men and police sped to the 10-storey Toronto-Dominion Bank Building, Douglas, just before 1 a.m. today when a man threatened to jump to the street below.

India Moving Forces Against Triple Threat

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Indian forces have been deployed for major manoeuvres near disputed border areas with Communist China, Pakistan and Portugal, authorities disclosed Monday.

The sources said the manoeuvres involved large-scale combined exercises of the army, navy and air force.

The deployment came amid growing demands for firm action to settle the government's dispute with Portugal over the tiny enclave of Goa and with Communist China over its occupation of vast areas along India's northeast frontier.

The sources said the government has no plans for immediate military action against Portugal but "precautionary measures" were being taken.

POLICE SENT

Reliable sources earlier said the army had taken over trains to move personnel. The action followed a reported buildup of Portuguese forces along the enclave's 188-mile border with India.

India border police also have been dispatched to the frontier area near Daman, another of the four Portuguese enclaves on India's west coast.

TROOPS LAND

According to reporters here, 700 more Portuguese troops landed in Goa Sunday, placing the 1,300-square-mile territory on a virtual war footing.

NEW PROTESTS

The long-standing border dispute with Communist China touched off new protests Monday in India's legislature.

LARGE AREA

Even Communist legislators joined in demanding that China withdraw from the 12,000 square miles of border territory it has "illegally occupied" along India's northeast frontier.

Vessel Adrift In Gale

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP)—The C. D. Secord, a Canadian coal carrier with 28 men aboard, drifted helplessly in high seas on Lake Superior Monday night.

The U.S. Coast Guard here said gale winds were blowing from the north-northwest and seas were high.

The coast guard cutter Windrush was dispatched from Duluth, Minn., but was nearly 200 miles away. Houghton is much closer, "but we've got only a 40-footer here," a coast guard spokesman said.

ROSSLARE HARBOR, Ireland (AP)—A raging storm hurled nine sailors from a lifeboat into seas off western Ireland Monday night and washed three other men off a rescue ship.

Ships planes and small craft fanned out in search of the missing men.

'WAR' DECLARED BY DOUKHOBORS

'Little People' Forced Into Life of Terrorism

NELSON (CP)—A white-haired son of 'Freedom Doukhobor,' sentenced Monday to five years' prison for unlawful possession of explosives, says "top people" among his sect force the "little people" into acts of violence.

"The top people gather money and have a good time while the poor

bomb and burn," said confessed terrorist Mike Bayoff, 51.

Bayoff said he was "a little kid" in a highly-organized crime gang which gave orders for outrages on wordless signals.

He said he turned his back on a lifetime of terrorism to confess his own role and implicate alleged associates because he could no longer live with himself if he continued to hide his and any other Freedomite's evil.

More than 40 suspected terrorists have been arrested since Bayoff made his confession Nov. 2 and appealed to them to give themselves up. County Court Judge Eric Dawson, who sentenced him Monday, said he had given great assistance to police.

NELSON (CP)—Sons of Freedom Doukhobor terrorists have declared civil war on the peaceful Kootenay district of British Columbia, a county court judge said Monday.

Judge Eric Dawson made the remark in sentencing Mike Bayoff, 51, of Wynndel, to five years in prison for unlawful possession of explosives.

He called the Freedomite terrorists potential killers.

Judge Dawson said in a 15-minute statement that Bayoff had expressed remorse for his actions and had proved his sincerity by his great assistance to police. But he said a sentence had to be imposed that would serve as a deterrent to those who were engaged in violence with him.

Referring to weekend fires in the nearby community of Glade, the judge said that on the eve of Bayoff's sentencing, terrorists had continued their diabolical attacks against human life.

After the judge left the courtroom some of the Freedomite spectators, most of them women, said: "If he is guilty, no one was."

Bayoff turned to them and said: "Go home, you pigs."

Before the judge began his statement, Bayoff said: "From now on I'd like to see these people behind me in the gallery) obey the law and live in peace. They have turned into pigs. Why don't they stay home and clean the snow away from their pig pens?"

VERY LONG TIME

Judge Dawson said Bayoff's conduct had been searched and you show that you are sincere in your remorse—but your activities go back a very long time.

"I would be remiss if I passed sentence without considering the interests of this community," He said it has been plagued for many years by acts of terror.

MANY CONFESSIONS

"It has reached the point where a small group has declared war on this community of peaceful citizens. It is impossible for me to overlook the many, many years that this community has endured this terror from the group associated with you, many of whom have confessed their crimes."
